Ninety Travelers to be Lahded at La Rochelle After Collision Between French Steamship Ceylan and British Steamship Clodoald in Bay of Biscay; Clodoald Continues Voyage.

Bordeaux, France, April 1.—The captain of the Commandant Damas, one of four tugs which went to the assistance of the French steamship Ceylan, damaged in a collision in the Bay of Biscay yesterday, to-day notified the harbor-master of Verdon that he had ninety passengers aboard and expected to reach La Rochelle late to-day.

The Ceylan is proceeding to La Rochelle in the two of three tugs. The disabled ship was reported taking water rapidly, but the tugs pumps were managing to keep her afloat.

The British steamship Clodoald, which was in collision with the Ceylan yesterday, continued her voyage after seeing the French vessel safely taken in charge by the tugs.

Seattle Officials May Use Fort Flagler For Meningitis Quarantine

Seattle, April 1.—Seattle health officials are planning to use Fort Flagler, near Port Townsend, as an emergency quarantine depot for meningitis cases upon receiving authority from the United States Public Health Service. The fort is a large stone building, built for the purpose of housing the army, and is now used as a storage for the U.S. Navy.

READY FOR MORE SHIPS

We are hopeful Diamond Point will be free of its present quarantine status by the time the next ship arrives from the Orient," said Dr. L. D. Pricks, director of the Public Health Service, who is now in Seattle.

The Diamond Point quarantine station, also near Port Townsend, is packed with stateroom passengers from ships in which they were exposed to meningitis.

The youths, aged seven, eighteen and nineteen, were captured in the brush at the corner of Dunbar Street and Forty-eighth Avenue. A sedan automobile, reported by Dr. Turnbull, West Fifteenth Avenue, as stolen, which was used to take away the safe, was found nearby. The strong box also was discovered in the vicinity.

The amount in the safe had not been determined at the Piggy-Wiggly office at noon. It contained Saturday's receipts.

WOMAN HEARD CAR

Entrance to the store was made at 3 a.m. to-day through a rear window. The burglars skidded the heavy safe to a rear door on boards and loaded it into the sedan. A woman living nearby heard the car start.

Notified of the burglary, police, acting on information received, threw a cordon about the wood at the corner of Dunbar and Forty-eighth. Officers combed the brush and several hours later the youths were found.

A fourth boy who escaped from the Industrial Home Friday was cleared of implication in the burglary.

Stealing of Store Safe Puts Youths In Police Net

The youths, aged seven, eighteen and nineteen, were captured in the brush at the corner of Dunbar Street and Forty-eighth Avenue. CHINA WOULD ALTER STATUS

Seeks to Reduce Position of Foreigners to That of Chinese, Says, Dr. Sze

"It is the aim of our government to reduce the status of foreigners in China to that of our nationals," said Dr. So-Ke Alfred Sze, newly appointed Ambassador of London, prior to his departure from here yesterday aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia for Shanghai, where he will spend six years as Embassy to Washington, D.C.

Dr. Sze explained that no drastic measures to this end are contemplated by the recently-established governing body at Nanking.

"The change," he said, "will be gradual, and can only come after we have convinced foreign powers that we are in a position to guarantee them internal stability and protection for their citizens domiciled in China."

He agreed that the present system of territorial concessions would have to go if the new China is to carry out its scheme of inaugurating one central authority to rule natives and foreigners alike.

This abrupt removal of power from the hands of Great Britain, France, United States and other countries need not be accompanied by severance of financial connections, Dr. Sze declared. It is the hope of his superiors that seen further economic penetration of the country may occur on the part of European nations, but only as long as the Chinese retain the upper hand on matters of policy.

STORE ENTERED AT SHAWNIGAN

Mail Rifled at Cliffside; Other Petty Thefts Reported to Police

The Cliffside General Store and Post Office at Cliffside, Shawnigan Lake, was burglarized last Friday night. Its entire stock removed, all its mail opened and some letters taken by the thieves. Entry to the store was made by the complete removal of a door, which was heavily locked.

At the same time owners of Summer homes around the lake reported petty thefts of property. Following an epidemic of robberies some months ago, residents fear a recurrence of these thefts.

Sergeant Robert Owens of the provincial police, has taken charge of investigations into the store robbery, which is regarded as serious on account of the interference with His Majesty's mail, a grave offense. Most of the mail in the little store was opened and left by the thieves, but some letters were taken, along with the entire stock of groceries, candy, tobacco and other merchandise.

HUMANITARIAN WORK IN MOOSE CENTRES SHOWN

Education and Development of Neglected Children in Mooseheart Related

Leslie W. Bloch, Grand Regent of Moose, Speaks to Victoria Branch

Fourteen hundred children receive elementary and vocational education and, in some cases, college training, at Mooseheart, the Moose institution for neglected children, and 161 aged women enjoy the comforts of a home at Moosehaven, the settlement for indigent aged people in Florida. Lester W. Bloch, of New York, grand regent of the Mooseheart region of the World yesterday told a gathering of Victoria Moose, in the Sons of Canada Hall. He gave some idea of the humanitarian work being carried on by the organization.

ASTOUNDING FIGURES

During his address Mr. Bloch referred to the fact that half a million dependent children were thrown on to the streets in the United States annually. Further he stated the significant fact that 41,000 of these were morose. It was no wonder, he continued, that statistics showed seventy-five per cent of the criminals of the United States were boys and girls under the age of twenty-three.

The ideal of the Moose in saving some of these children from swelling the ranks of crime was successfully achieved in the Mooseheart institution in Illinois. Mr. Bloch said. Since its inception in 1913 no graduate of the institution had in any way proved a failure in the community of the organization, he continued, saying that in many cases the boys had risen to high positions in the country and had proved of value to the state.

HUMANITARIAN ORGANIZATION

From a deep study of sociology gleaned from extensive travel and inquiry in eight European countries, as well as the United States and Canada, he had come to the conclusion that the Moose formed the greatest humanitarian fraternal organization of the world. Not only did they care for the neglected children and mothers, but they also gave to aged poor what little comfort a homelike atmosphere could at Moosehaven. Here, unlike the pauper homes supported by the different states, old couples could live together in bungalows. In the establishment they worked as they would have done in their own homes. Each member of the settlement was given a little pocket money, while food supplies and other necessities were given them free of charge.

NO COERCION

In both institutions no attempt was made to coerce the religious or national viewpoints of the inmates. At Mooseheart the children were brought up under the creed which they followed before entering the establishment, and were taught to be loyal to their native country. "For," the lecturer stated, "the Moose recognize no political boundaries, but regard fellow-members of a different country as

REMAIN TOGETHER

Throughout his address the speaker emphasized the fact that husbands and wives were not separated by entering the different institutions. Nor were men and women, whose only sin was poverty, forced to mingle with diseased people, as was the case in the majority of state-supported pauper homes.

Anecdotes of little domestic activities in the two colonies lent color to Mr. Bloch's address and he assured the audience of the value of Mooseheart and Moosehaven.

Before closing, Mr. Bloch urged members of the Moose to do their utmost to forward the activities of the legion which aided the poor.

R. H. Lott, dictator of the local branch, presided at the meeting and thanked Mr. Bloch for his most instructive address.

Regina Balmorals Given Hoop Crown

Regina, April 1.—The Regina Balmorals were declared senior basketball champions of the province here Saturday when the Prince Albert Elks northern champions, failed to put in an appearance, defaulting the title. In the first game of the championship round, played in Prince Albert a week ago, the Balmorals marked up a 35-29 victory.

A miserly millionaire was approached by an old friend, who tried tactfully to induce him to dress more in accordance with his station in life. "I am surprised," said the friend, "that you should allow yourself to appear shabby." "But I'm not shabby," protested the millionaire. "Oh, but you are!" said his old friend. "Remember your father. He was always well dressed. His clothes were always finely tailored, and of the best material." "Why," said the miser triumphantly, "these clothes I've got on were my father's!"

MAIL PLANES WILL FLY 13,000,000 MILES THIS YEAR

With 37,000 miles of established airways in the United States, and by July 1, 50,000 miles of lighted airways, airmail pilots are expected to fly about 13,000,000 miles during 1929. The mail planes fly approximately 35,000 miles a day, serving 108 cities. Only ten states are now without daily airmail service. Each day the mail planes carry approximately nine tons of letters, exclusive of express and passengers. Besides there are about thirty transport and taxi lines which are expected to fly between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 miles this year. There are now 1,600 improved or semi-improved airports, most of them municipal, and their value is estimated at about $100,000,000. This year about $50,000,000 will be spent by 1,100 airports for land, equipment and supplies. The above map shows the nation's airways.

COUNSEL TWICE FINED BY JUDGE

Defence Lawyer at Tracy Trial in Seattle Wants Jury Discharged

Seattle, April 1.—In rapid succession, John F. Dore, defence counsel, twice was fined $25 for contempt of court by Superior Judge Calvin S. Hall at the resumption of the manslaughter trial of Dr. Royal B. Tracy here to-day. After several remarks by Dore the court warned him to exercise more reserve in his method of conducting the defence. The two fines followed in short order when the defence attorney continued them.

"You can't do anything if I pay the $25," declared Dore after the first fine. "I want this jury discharged and I will ask that the jury be discharged on account of prejudice."

"You are fined an additional $25 for that contemptuous remark," Judge Hall ordered.

CONSUL EXPLAINS NEW JAPAN DUTIES

Vancouver, April 1.—A denial that the new Japanese Tariff Act, promulgated Saturday, will seriously affect British Columbia lumber exporters has been made by Hon. T. Fukuma, Japanese Consul for Western Canada. He contends the principal result of the new scale will be to regulate importation and stabilize Japanese lumber prices.

Brief governmental cables available at the consulate indicate the two principal items in the new tariff of interest to the Pacific Coast are the duties imposed on Douglas fir and red cedar and Port Oxford white cedar. For manufactured Douglas fir, which is believed to include both Japanese baby and giant squares, the new duty will be twenty per cent ad valorem. Douglas fir logs and split timber, however, are admitted at the lower rate of five per cent ad valorem. On red cedar and Port Oxford white cedar the rates are twenty per cent ad valorem on manufactured lumber, and 12½ per cent on long and split timber.

This is understood to be an increase over the previous rates of duty. Previous tariffs admitted all logs free, manufactured pine, fir, hemlock and spruce, not exceeding sixty-five millimetres in diameter, were admitted at the rate of 3-10 yen a cubic metre (current rate of yen is $4.22). Lumber not exceeding 150 millimetres in diameter was rated at 1.95 yen a cubic metre. Cedar, not exceeding twenty centimetres in length, seven inches in width and seven inches in thickness, was admitted free.

Two ounces of aqua ammonia without injury. Objection by prosecutor Ewing D. Colvin to questioning of the women was sustained by the court.

FAMINE IN CONGO AREA TAKES TOLL

Thousands of Natives Die as Result of Failure of Several Seasons' Crops

London, April 1.—The London Daily Express, in a dispatch from Nairobi, Kenya, to-day described terrible famine conditions in the Ruandi district of the Belgian Congo. The account was given by Dr. J. E. Church, British missionary working there.

Owing to the successive failure of crops during two rainy seasons, the backward state of agriculture and indifferent communications, the dead and dying of starvation are numbered in thousands, according to the minister.

Since December, when the Uganda Government prohibited exportation of foodstuffs to Ruandi, the natives of the latter district have tried to migrate to the former, but thousands never reached their goal and the fever-stricken district through which they traveled, littered with corpses, the missionary says. The tracks, he states, are crowded with natives. Women and children have lain helpless by the sides of the roads and some cases have been eaten by hyenas, which began their meal before they were dead. Ruandi itself he says is a land of living skeletons and is taking active steps to remedy the situation.

STEFANSSON SAYS ARCTIC CRUISE PLAN DANGEROUS

The submarine has been used as a test ship by Simon Lake, its owner, who may be a member of the expedition.

TEN IN PARTY
Commander Green said the Defender, although small, would be large enough to accommodate the expedition, as it was planned to take only ten men, and the Defender had accommodations for twelve. The extra space could be used for carrying scientific equipment.

Although Sir Hubert has expressed the opinion that although the proposed voyage would be "perfectly safe," other scientists do not agree with him. Stefansson, noted Canadian explorer, from whom Sir Hubert says he got the idea for the trip to-day, said he regarded the voyage as "a very dangerous enterprise."

"I tried to persuade him to postpone the trip until the summer of next year," he said, "so that he might have more time to look around and he might get a better type of submarine."

He added he believed the trip was feasible.

Sir Hubert, according to his announced plans, hopes to begin the voyage in June of this year.

COURTS TO RULE ON I'M ALONE

U.S. Judges' Decision on the Sinking of Schooner May Be Challenged By Canada

Washington, April 1.—(By Francis G. Aldham, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—While the rest of the United States continues to discuss the I'm Alone case as a crucial test of the public's prohibition law, officials in Washington are treating it as but one more incident in prohibition enforcement. Since the dispatches from New Orleans announced coastguard officials were prepared to admit they had no grounds on which they could prosecute for conspiracy the Canadian captain and crew of the "Lunenburg" schooner sunk 200 miles out at sea by United States coastguards, a majority of United States newspapers have criticized the action of the coastguard and prophesied the Washington government will have to pay big indemnities for the loss of the boat and the death of the French citizen who was drowned when the two United States cutters riddled the I'm Alone with shells and sent her to the bottom in war-time manner.

RULING BY COURT
It is understood the attitude of the Canadian Government is that the I'm Alone case rests on questions of international law so involved that no sudden and dramatic action can be taken through diplomatic channels. Ottawa has not given but any definite announcement. Apparently the case will be left to the United States courts, with the possibility that their decision may be challenged. This has been the practice up to now.

INDEMNITY EXPECTED
The attitude of the French government probably will be that as the French sailor, Leon Malinowsky, drowned illegally, the United States Government must indemnify the sailor's family. The courts will decide this. The general principle involved will be fought out by the Canadian Government, with the French Government a party to the suit and the British Government a most important observer, prepared, if necessary, to back up the Canadian Government.

NEWSPAPER AIDS VETERAN'S CLAIM

Toronto, April 1.—The search that was made in both Canada and the United States for a former Red Cross nurse, "Miss Bessy Vanark of Bogota," as a link in the chain of evidence through which Donald Duncan, of Ottawa, is seeking medical treatment from the Department of Pensions and National Health, has resulted in the finding of the nurse through publication of the story in a local newspaper.

Miss Vanark was in charge of a ward in a United States field hospital in which Duncan was a patient for two weeks after having been wounded at the front. Her evidence as to his being a patient in that hospital is sought by Duncan to complete his claim.

WOMAN KILLED BY HUSBAND

Man Attempts Suicide After Crime in Walla Walla, Wash.; Now in Jail

Walla Walla, Wash., April 1.—Hacked by her husband with a meat cleaver on several parts of her body in a family quarrel about midnight last night, Mrs. George Schneider died at a hospital to-day from injuries.

The husband was lodged in the county jail in less than an hour and shortly after he unsuccessfully attempted to take his own life.

Investigation at the house and a few words that Schneider spoke to officers after his arrest indicated a quarrel had led him into a fit of anger over a belief his wife was going to leave him again.

MARRIED IN JANUARY
They been married since the first part of January and separated once, to return together recently. Schneider went to a telephone and called a doctor and after his wife had been taken to a hospital and he was alone, went out into the kitchen and turned the gas on. Officers found him a few minutes later and took him into custody.

Four wine glasses on a table in the dining-room gave rise to a belief a party had been held earlier in the evening. Officers declared Schneider was not drunk when arrested.

Schneider is a man about fifty years old while his wife was about twenty-four. They were married over the prospect of his children from a former marriage.

BRITISH HEAR OF SURPLUS

Year's Balance Is £18,394,464, States Chancellor of Exchequer

London, April 1.—Chancellor of Exchequer Winston Churchill has surprised and delighted Great Britain with the announcement that national accounts for the year 1928-1929 showed a surplus of £18,394,464. At adoption of the budget last year a surplus of £7,738,000 was predicted.

The chief cause of the better showing is attributed to the trade increase. A total of about £4,000,000 was carried over from last year, so the treasury now shows a surplus of approximately £22,500,000. This sum goes into a special fund for a rating relief scheme. There was much rubbing of hands with satisfaction among the Government supporters over the financial feat of closing the year. The achievement is expected to be chosen as a campaigning theme by the Conservatives in the forthcoming general election.

EVIDENCE GIVEN BY MA KENNEDY

Portland, Ore., April 1.—A subpoena was served yesterday on Mrs. Minnie Kennedy for her appearance to make a deposition regarding the $2,500 "love offering" cheque given by her daughter, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, to Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy of Los Angeles, whose impeachment trial is to be started in Sacramento, California, next week.

Mrs. Kennedy accepted service of the subpoena from two California Assemblymen, William Cornblower and Walter Little, who came here to take her deposition.

STREETS SNOW-BANKED
From Spencerwood, residence of the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, the cortege passed through snow-banked roads to the Legislative Buildings, where by who lay in death had played in life an enviable role. City dwellers stood in the snow while the representatives of the King, Ministers and officials stood ready to join in the final tribute and supreme honor of the state funeral. Not since the body of Cardinal Beign was laid to rest had Quebec seen such a funeral.

Following the Basilica service the procession moved to the railway station, where the casket was placed on a special train. Accompanied by the principal mourners, it left for Montreal, where interment will be made.

TWO CAN PLAY AT IT

CONGRESSMEN AT WASHINGTON
Who are getting alarmed over Japan's proposal to impose a tariff on certain commodities which she imports from this continent no doubt now are learning how other people feel when they find themselves discriminated against by United States tariffs. Japan apparently is taking the view that what is sauce for the goose also is sauce for the gander on the tariff menu. It is not certain, of course, that the proposed changes will go into effect; but preliminary action obviously has been taken in anticipation of the course which President Hoover is being urged to take by United States high tariff advocates.

The new tariff bill would increase the duty on certain forms of dressed lumber which Japan imports, most of which goes from the United States, including a tariff on logs, which hitherto have not been taxed at all. British Columbia lumbermen are not specially concerned over the prospect of the change, since their lumber business with Japan is relatively small. Nor was it to be supposed that they were in any mood to join their competitors on the other side of the border in a protest to the Japanese Government. They have not forgotten the campaign which still is being waged at Washington in favor of duties on British Columbia lumber and shingles, which our neighbor imports from us in fairly large quantities.

What the United States and Japan do in this matter of tariff-increases is their own business; but it must be patent to our neighbor by this time that her restrictions against the trade of other countries are likely to land her in a difficult position. There is a suggestion from Washington that if Japan persists in raising the duty on lumber she imports, the United States should embark upon retaliatory measures. Such a course would mean one thing: a gradual contraction of trade between the two countries.

A tariff war between the United States and Japan would mean that the American consumer would have to pay more for the goods that did climb the wall—which eventually would result in a decreased demand. Japan buys approximately $350,000,000 worth of goods a year from the United States and sells the republic goods to the value of about $440,000,000. True, the balance is in favor of the Oriental country, a fact which would lead one to suppose that she would not raise the tariff issue. But it may only be a gesture in order to remind the United States that two can play at the game of building tariff walls.

There is, however, an interest for Canada in Japan's contemplated action on the tariff. It may be that because of the odd sizes of lumber which the Japanese consumer requires, it would not pay British Columbia lumbermen to make very serious efforts to increase their business in this regard; but this country should not be slow to reap any advantage which might be obtainable from a reciprocal trading arrangement with Japan in the event of a tariff war between her and the United States.

Canada's principal trade need at the present time is more markets. Production all over this country is proceeding at a great pace, and if we are to obtain the full benefit of our industrial and agricultural development, we must sell more and more goods to the other countries of the world. It is doubtful if we are going after more business as energetically as we should. We are represented in the Orient, for instance, by only two Trade Commissioners. Yet the business of nearly 600,000,000 people awaits in that field.

WILL THE VATICAN ENTER THE LEAGUE?

AS A RESULT OF THE RECENT
treaty the Vatican is now restored as a separate state of Europe and there has been considerable interest in the question whether or not it will enter the League of Nations. It is contended by those best qualified to speak that it will not. On the other hand, there are a great number of Roman Catholics who believe that its entry would be a wise move and give the League the additional prestige of formal sanction by the head of a large Christian denomination. Despite this point of view the majority of Roman Catholics, it is believed, would oppose the action because the League is a political body and they are not in favor of the Pope compromising his spiritual and moral authority by definite alignment with temporal affairs.

A prominent Roman Catholic publication in Europe, The Catholic Record, has this to say on the subject: "The League of Nations has to deal with political matters. Now we have always noted that the priest or the bishop who messed up in matters purely political always lessened his spiritual prestige and influence. We fail to see how the Pope could fare any better if he were to meddle in the political matters with which the League of Nations deals."

When the Pope was municipal, provincial, national or international, it seems to us to be the same thing. Individually, priest, bishop or Pope might take sides and, as a citizen, exercise his influence; but it is always unfortunate if he drags or tries to drag the Church into such matters.

"In our own day the Action Française is a notable illustration of the futility and wrong-headedness of the priest in politics. In spite of the express condemnation of the Pope, many priests, bishops and laymen still persist in identifying the Church with monarchism. It is only the stern action of the Holy See that frees the Church from this unmerited stigma. Individually, priests, bishops or laymen may hold what political views they choose, but neither cardinals, bishops, priests nor laymen may tie the Church up to such views."

The Record further points out that at the League of Nations the Vatican, like the United States, keeps an unofficial observer, who lately received a communication from the Pope which states that he has no desire to enter the League. The Pontiff points out that he could not take sides between two equally close to him in questions which do not concern Christian authority or even international morality. Another reason given was that the rank which the new Papal state would hold at Geneva would be the same as that held by fifty temporal powers. The most cogent reason advanced was that, despite the great social and humanitarian questions which occupied its attention, most of its problems were of a temporal character, interference in which would merely compromise the spiritual and moral authority of the Pope.

GROWING BUSINESS

bank clearings for the first three months of this year over the corresponding period of 1928 is a very gratifying one. A gain of $4,300,000 is recorded.

This is a convincing indication that 1929 bids fair to be one of the best business years since the city passed the hectic post-war period. Not only is more business being transacted through the banking institutions, but the number of homes which are being built, the important improvements which are being made in the city's commercial buildings, are all signs of a general revival.

The increased banking business, incidentally, has been a feature of local trading from month to month since the latter part of 1924. The gain in the weekly returns have not been spectacular, but they have been steady and have been maintained. This is the right kind of progress.

It also is interesting to note the optimistic predictions with regard to tourist travel this year. Both the large Canadian transportation companies are making preparations for handling a much bigger volume than last year, which, of course, did not show the increase that a normal year would. It was presidential election year in the United States; and that nearly always slows up travel on this continent.

THE LATE MR. CONYERS

VICTORIA WAS ROBBED OF A
sterling citizen by the death of Mr. L. U. Conyers on Saturday. Mr. Conyers had been identified with the business life of this community for many years and he found time to associate himself with all progressive movements. He was especially interested in hospital work and gave much of his time to it. Possessed of many amiable qualities, actively concerned for the welfare of the city in which all his interests were centered, Mr. Conyers has left behind him many whom he could number as his genuine friends.

HEAVILY IN OUR FAVOR

IT WOULD BE INTERESTING TO learn just what sort of a trading account would really satisfy our opposition friends. Mr. Bennett and those who support him in the House of Commons continue to "view with alarm" certain importations from Australia and New Zealand. They refuse to be cheered by the record and the large balance in our favor. Here are some comparisons with respect to Canadian-Australian trade for the nine months ending with December of 1927 and 1928:

	1927	1928
Canada sold	$11,178,685	$13,262,377
Canada bought	4,111,087	2,731,734

It will be seen that for the nine months of the present fiscal year we sold to Australia five times as much as we bought from her, and yet our opposition friends grumble. Here is the account with New Zealand for the same periods:

	1927	1928
Canada sold	$8,449,556	$12,184,079
Canada bought	4,219,015	5,417,877

Although there is not such a heavy balance in our favor in the case of our trade with New Zealand, the figures show a decided advantage for us. If the two Dominions are taken together, the balance in our favor for the nine months of the present fiscal year amounts to nearly $15,300,000.

The advantage here shown should be sufficient to satisfy most people.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

COMMON SENSE

The New York Herald-Tribune
If you have sense enough to earn two or three cars you should have sense enough to walk for exercise.

SPEED

One would like to know, as a matter of fact, just when the human race got so interested in speed per se that it is willing to risk life, limb and money in achieving it. Footraces, of course, began with humanity. They are trials of individual strength, fortitude and physical prowess. Though all those qualities are demanded in driving these great racing automobiles, the interest in them is really secondary. It is not the steadiness of Major Segrave's hand, but the bullet-like progress of his machine, that really counts.

CULTURE AND THE DOLLAR

A Princeton professor, answering the criticism that his countrymen are prone to put the dollar above culture, says: "After all, it is not the material more fundamental? What boots it if we produce a Shakespeare or a Beethoven, if there are millions living in misery and degradation? In a country where the masses labor early and late for a bare living, where they have insufficient food and clothing, where there is little time for things of the mind and spirit, the scale of civilization must necessarily be low. Of course, it doesn't always work out quite that way. Appreciation of the finer things of life does not necessarily come with the means to cultivate them."

A CAUSE OF SHAME

It was all in vain that those supporting the legislation pointed out that the principle of divorce was not at stake. That has long been established. Nobody seemed to care that the divorce committee in the Senate is a style of divorce court that would cause any self-respecting community to hang its head in shame, that under its medical supervision divorces can be granted, but no provision can be made for the care of children nor alimony for the wife, no matter how deserving she may be. The Catholics and Anglicans voted practically en masse against something which was not at stake. They voted against divorce regardless of the fact that they were perpetrating a system of dissolving the marriage tie that is not safeguarded by the ordinary principles of justice.

PLANT TREES

A proposed amendment to a bill dealing with tree planting would have the legislature draw attention to something that is too generally neglected, not only in Quebec but throughout Canada. One of the charms of old-world roads is very often the rows of beautiful trees that flank it mile after mile. Particularly in flat country they add the only touch of beauty that can be provided.

One way of providing this support is for municipalities to apply for and set out the trees which are being grown for their use. The beauty of a village or town for generations to come can be assured for the cost of labor plus a merely nominal charge. There is virtually no cost of maintenance except the small annual sum necessary for replacements. Many of our Quebec villages are in themselves a delight to the eye; of the beauty of others perhaps the less said the better. But even the most beautiful can be made still more attractive, even the least charming can be enormously improved by trees. The Government is doing its share in lending encouragement to the work; it is up to the public to take advantage of the opportunity.

SEEING THE WORLD

Abolishing the $10 visa, fee on American visitors' passports, Mussolini shows intelligent friendliness. Other nations might abolish that nuisance, for the American, when he starts traveling starts spending, and leaves behind whatever he takes with him.

Wise Americans, seeing America first, of course, will make it a point to see Italy also. Landing in Naples, driving thence through Rome, Florence, Pisa, Milan, Genoa, along the Riviera to Cannes or Marseilles and north to Paris, you can plant in your own and your children's minds more knowledge of men and what they have done than many books could teach you.

You can take your automobile, big or little, with you on the boat very cheaply, and bring it back with your foreign custom tax refunded, and big American motor companies have their agencies all over Europe.

So travel, first from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Gulf to Canada and into and through Canada, then, through Europe. You'd feel ashamed, landing in Heaven, if you had to confess that you never saw the little Earth left behind you.

The WEATHER

TAXATION ANOMALIES

To the Editor:—In the publication of my letter on March 16 in reply to one from Mr. Hamilton of Pender Island, the transposition of the tables I submitted into single columns, no doubt owing to mechanical considerations, confused the points I was endeavoring to establish.

The examples I gave in my letter clearly show glaring inequity, under the present law, in the taxation of improvements with a rate of forty-one per cent, resulting in a profit of $4,166.00 on a total value of $999,200.00 in one case, and loss of $884.50 on a total value of $98,000.00 in another case. Hundreds of such cases exist, varying in degree; all, however, testifying that the doctrine of a huge political fake, adroitly turning the victims into thinking they are beneficiaries.

TRENCH LIFE IS RECALLED

48th Battalion, Third Canadian Pioneers, Hold Annual Reunion

War memories, in song and story, were lived over again at the annual reunion banquet of the 48th Battalion, C.E.F., the Third Canadian Pioneers, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Saturday evening. Lieut.-Col. W. H. Holmes, D.S.O., presided, and few former members of the unit within reach of Victoria remained away for the event.

Mile stones in the battalion's war record were recalled by the men who went through heavy actions, and saw many of their comrades fall. The 48th Battalion, after a formal baptism of fire, was involved in heavy fighting in the Ypres salient in April, 1916, in what became known as the Third Battle of Ypres. After seven months fighting the Pioneers in the ranks of the Canadian Corps, went to the Somme.

The sugar refinery at Courcellette, an epic engagement in a sea of battles, stood out as part of lasting months of pressing and shell-fire on the Somme. Then came Vimy in April 1917, where the Canadian Corps renewed its laurels, and the battle ended one of the major Allied offensives.

WAS DISBANDED
"With the right to put Ypres, the Somme, Vimy and many other new historic names to its credit in the nation's war diary, the 48th Battalion was disbanded in 1919 after its ranks had been decimated. Its survivors were sent to the 26th, 7th and other battalions, and the Third Canadian Pioneers passed out of existence. On Saturday evening, though twelve years after the event, the wound still rankled, and survivors told of the cross erected on Vimy Ridge which bears the battalion's motto: "Raised by Patriotism and Disbanded by Politics."

It was not of glory, however, but of the devil-may-care luck of the trenches that veterans of the battalion spoke most at their reunion. The wartime tale, with a laugh peeping out from behind a sigh was told with quietness. George and thirty, the route from whom no glory could restore. Softened by time, hardships were forgotten, and the merry camaraderie of buddies in arms was told in song and story.

The veterans toasted "Our Fallen Comrades," "Absent Friends," and many whose names were bound up with the battle in months of fighting. Lieut.-Col. Holmes, Capt. A. Lane, Lieut.-Bunting, G. Carr and others who spoke, were received with hearty applause.

On its entertainment side, the programme included a number of turns by G. H. Durban, L. Burnell, J. Ramsay and F. Merryfield, the magician.

PLAN INQUIRY INTO TELKWA COAL SCHEME

Government to Investigate Big Northern Railway Project; Land Is Asked

Plans of a syndicate for the development of coal resources around Telkwa, in northern British Columbia, with the construction of a railway from Telkwa westward through the Copper River country, will be made the subject of fullest inquiry by the Provincial Government this year, according to a statement given out by Premier Tolmie.

The concern interested in the development of coal fields in the Telkwa district, and the construction of a railway from there to Idewater at Kitimat has been incorporated as the Telkwa Kitimat Railway Company. It had planned to ask the Legislature at its recent session for a charter, but did not press its claims. No bill authorizing construction was passed by the House, but the Government's intention, as outlined by the Premier, is to investigate the whole scheme during the year.

ASK LAND GRANT
In his statement, outlining details of the northern project mentioned before, the Premier said that last fall a solicitor representing "certain interests" asked the Government for a land grant of 10,000 acres for every mile of railway constructed, this land to be used for settlement purposes.

"The executive," said the statement, "pointed out that it had been the policy for some years in British Columbia to avoid, as far as possible, tying up large blocks of public land and that, before doing so, it was desirable in the first place to seriously consider the possible and probable advantages accruing in the second place, to review the territory to be affected by such a concession; and in the third place (and this was most important), for the Government to be assured of the financial ability of the proposer of the plan to effectuate what they offered to do."

The solicitor putting forward the proposal concurred in the importance attached to the financial side of the question and undertook to produce assurances in that respect.

These assurances, the Premier adds, were filed just before the prorogation of the House and "appeared quite satisfactory." The Government, he says, could not investigate the matter before the closing of the House, and decided to go into it more fully during the recess.

P. G. E. SURVEY WILL COMMENCE AROUND MAY 1

Field Parties to Investigate Three Phases of B.C. Railway Problem

Surveys of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway problem by the Provincial Government, in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, will be launched at the first of May, it was announced at the Parliament Buildings. It is hoped that the survey may be complete this year, this inquiry being designed to result some time in the solution of the provincial railway problem.

"As many field parties as are required for the work will be provided, Premier Tolmie declared, but at the beginning the three chief phases of the problem to be studied will be: First, the resources of the huge land blocks set aside by the Legislature for the benefit of the P.G.E.; secondly, the route of the line if extended from Quesnel, its present terminus, to Prince George, and thirdly, the route from Prince George to the Peace River, together with the resources contiguous to this proposed line."

IN GOVERNMENT CHARGE

The surveys will be in the complete charge of the Government. "The field parties which we are preparing now to send out will be Government parties, under Government control," the Premier said. "We have been in touch with the two transcontinental railway companies, which are joining with us in this survey, and they will attach to our parties such expert representatives as they consider necessary. While the surveys will be under Government direction, we will co-operate thoroughly with the two big railways in securing the information which they consider necessary in determining facts about the whole P.G.E. system."

FORESEES BIG DEVELOPMENTS AT LADYSMITH

Total Coal Output to Be Maintained, Despite Extension Closing, Says Haggen

Ladysmith may become the "Metallurgical Mecca" of the Pacific Coast if plans of the Ladysmith Tidewater Smelters Ltd., and the British Metals Corporation for the re-opening of the Ladysmith Smelter are carried out according to E. A. Haggen, mining editor of The Vancouver Province. Re-opening of the smelter, he declares in a recent article, would more than compensate the Ladysmith district, and Vancouver Island for the recent closing of the Extension Mines.

The plans of these two companies, Mr. Haggen writes, "include not only smelting but the establishment of a custom concentrating mill where ores can be treated without the necessity of constructing mills for smaller mining operations tributary to the coast; while it is also proposed to establish an electrolytic refinery."

"With such a plant Ladysmith may become the metallurgical Mecca of the Pacific Coast where ores from Alaska to South America may find a market which may even attract shipments from other parts of the Pacific rim."

NEW MINES

"While the closing of the Extension Mines is a bad blow to Ladysmith at present it may prove only a temporary setback. As to the coal industry on Vancouver Island, new mines will be opened, and shipments probably maintained for many years to come. The Consumers Coal Company is opening a coal mine at Round Island where the operations will be partly submarine and partly on the adjacent foreshore. Then steps are being taken to open the Squash field in the north end of the Island on a large scale with modern beneficiation equipment and an associated chemical industry. It is rather remarkable that this Squash field should have laid idle so long. It was at Squash the first coal in British Columbia was mined. The field was favorably reported on by Dr. G. M. Dawson, Dr. Clapp, and several other coal mining engineers and geologists. The coal is free-burning with little smoke, but is non-cooking. A test made by the C.P.R. showed it to compare favorably with Extension coal steaming purposes.

ONLY SIX DAYS REMAIN TO ADD NAME AS VOTER

Saturday, April 6, is announced as the final date for registration for the Provincial Voters' List, by George H. Mabon, the registrar in charge of Victoria City and Esquimalt Electoral Districts. There are no costs in connection with registration, and information can be secured through offices in the Court House, Bastion Street, or through any voting commissioner. All those who did not use their vote at the last Provincial election must re-register to retain the privilege, while applications for registration will also be received from those newly settled in the area. Victoria City includes Oak Bay for purpose of the Provincial voters' list.

TEMPORARY SETBACK

"If pulverized coal comes into general use as fuel for steamships and replaces oil, as seems probable, the location of this field has great advantages, for boats could refuel half-way up the coast at Port McNeill, Port Hardy to Alert Bay on both the northern and return trips, leaving them so much more cargo space available, a condition that would be of particular advantage to shipping employed on the Alaska run. Steps are being taken to develop the coal outcrops at Cape Caution, and there are deposits of lignite in a remnant of the coal measures at Malaspina where a Vancouver company did development some years ago. The coal industry on the coast seems therefore to have a long life still ahead of it, and such setbacks as the shutting down of the Extension Mines are therefore likely to have only a temporary effect."

BIRTH RATE OF PROVINCE DOWN

Increase of Only Twenty, With Population Up Nearly 10,000
Rate of Natural Increase Is Lowest on Record Since 1923

Twenty more births were registered in British Columbia in the year 1927 than in the previous year, according to the annual report just made available by Dr. H. E. Young, Provincial medical health officer. This interesting record contains a wealth of information on vital statistics, accompanied by interesting comparisons. The birth rate per thousand for 1927 was a little lower than the previous year, but it is pointed out that delayed registrations of births, of which large numbers continue to be received, may cause the totals to be changed. The birth rate for 1927 was 17.5 per 1,000 population, as against 17.7 for the previous year. The 1927 population is given at 575,000 and the 1926 population as 568,000. The total number of living births was 10,084, as against 10,063. The total number of all births was 11,766, compared with 11,825 the previous year. Deaths totaled 6,042, compared with 5,724. Marriages totaled 4,765, compared with 4,452.

One hundred and eleven pairs of twins were born during 1927, of which 110 children lived, the number of girls and the number of boys being even—210. There were no triplets born, the only cases of triplets on record since 1923 being in 1926, with the exception of one case in 1924, where the children died.

The rate of natural increase per thousand population in 1927 was 7.5, the lowest on record. In previous years it ranged between 8.0 and 9.2.

ORIENTAL RACES

The total number of Chinese births registered during the year ended December 31, 1927, was 238, as against 203 in the year 1926. Chinese children born and registered during the year 1927 numbered 171, the balance being registrations of births that occurred prior to 1927.

The number of Chinese deaths registered during the year ended December 31, 1927, was 211, as against 224 in the preceding year.

Deaths from tuberculosis and cancer numbered fifty and thirteen, respectively. Deaths of children under one year of age, seven; still-borns, two. There were 1,354 registrations of births of Japanese children during the year ended December 31, 1927, as against 1,170 registrations during the previous year. The number of Japanese children born and registered during the same period was 715, as against 726 the previous year. Japanese deaths registered in the year 1927 numbered 209, as against 121 the previous year. Deaths of Japanese children under one year of age numbered seventy. Deaths from tuberculosis and cancer numbered thirty-five and seven, respectively.

INDIAN RETURNS

The total number of registrations of births of Indians for the year ended December 31, 1927, was 447, and of these 331 were registrations of children born in the year 1927.

There were 504 Indian deaths registered during the year 1927, and of these eighty-nine were registrations of deaths of children under one year of age. Deaths from tuberculosis and cancer numbered 151 and four, respectively. There were six registrations of still-borns.

Marriages registered during the year numbered 113, as against 127 the previous year.

JUNE WEDDINGS
SHOW TRADITION IS MAINTAINED

Statistics just issued by Dr. H. E. Young, Provincial Medical Health Officer, show that June as the month for brides is more than a tradition. In a year's record for British Columbia no other month came near that of June for the total weddings contracted. The number reached 689 with the nearest approach to it being August, with 483 marriages. The total for the year under review was 4,720.

There were 3,776 marriages contracted between spinsters and bachelors. Widows married 214 bachelors. Two hundred and twenty-nine spinsters married widowers and 184 widowers and widows embarked on the second trip on the sea of matrimony together. One hundred spinsters married divorced men. Thirty-one widows selected divorced men for their second husbands.

AN EVEN BREAK
Widows and widowers broke even in second marriages with the percentage of widowers on the bridegroom's list being 9.2 and the percentage of widows on the brides' list being 9.1.

THROUGH PLAY A CHILD GAINS
KNOWLEDGE OF WORLD

Parents are inclined to envy children their ability to play all the time. They feel that the child is having a pretty easy time in the world and that he should be grateful for it. "Nothing to do all day but play," they think. Play in their minds is synonymous with recreation in their own lives.

When the adult plays he simply changes his form of activity. If he has a sedentary business life, he plays golf or rides horseback for recreation. If he lives an active outdoor life he likes nothing better than to sit still in a movie or go to the theatre. Play is change. Play with the child is living. A business, not a recreation. Every minute of his play is teaching him new uses for all his senses and through varied experiences giving him a knowledge of the world in which he is living.

The child's play is a vital necessity to him. He can dream and turn his dreams into reality. He can play he is a horse and for the time being he is one. He dictates his own actions and discovers the results. If he climbs on the chair in order to play that it is a house, he very easily discovers that when climbed in the wrong way, it upsets a top or breaks a doll. If he opens a box lid and keeps his fingers on it and then pushes it down, he finds for himself that he pinches his finger.

No matter what he is playing with or how he is playing, he is learning something.

Parents think to themselves: "He's only a baby now; he doesn't know anything. Wait until he goes to school and learns to read and count." Experiences are not learned from books. A child can be proficient in counting if he plays store, long before he knows one number from another on the printed page.

Every toy a child plays with increases his knowledge of his own capacities and of the world. If the toy is a good one, he won't you seen home in which a box full of toys was handed to a child and when he threw them away one by one, the parent said disgustedly: "I don't know what to do with the child." He has all kinds of things to play with but he won't play. The habit of buying a cheap toy each time he goes down town could easily be responsible for such a situation. Children need fewer and better toys, chosen with a view to their continuing use, and which may be used in a dozen different ways according to the dictates of their small owner.

Children can play all day long with one toy if it is a good toy. They are merely irritated by cheap, tiny toys, which may strike the parent as good enough for a baby, but show their real worth because the alert and intelligent child refuses to use them. If the child shows no interest in his toys, don't blame him—criticize the toys.

A Quilted Sack and Cap Is Made for Nancy's Son

By Florence La Gankle

In Peter Page Junior's grandmother's opinion there never had been a baby like him. She spent much time in scouting the shops for new ideas. When she saw a new pattern for a knitted sweater or a new fashioned bib she purchased the material at once and set to work to fashion another gift. For Christmas she was making a little sack and bonnet which was lined with the softest of China silk. There was a lamb's wool interlining. The top was of creamy white chilla of the finest weave. Instead of the conventional feather stitching she used the popular quilting. A simple quilted pattern was the only ornamentation on both bonnet and sack. The one she saw in the shop had been made by drawing yarn through from the back between the two rows of quilting. She scarcely considered this suitable for a garment which had to be laundered frequently.

MOTHERS
THEIR CHILDREN

TO ACQUIRE SELF CONTROL

One mother says:
So many children in their growing years, especially between the ages of three and ten years, seem quite nervous and fidgety. When I see that they are that way I have them sit quietly in a chair for five or ten minutes without moving any part of their bodies: hands, feet, head, mouth or eyes. At the first trial it will seem like an impossibility but gradually they will learn to control themselves and it is excellent training for them as well as immediate relief for their restless condition.

She took one of his little hangers and made a cover for it. This was quilted also. She chose French flannel for the cover, since silk was so slippery. A bit of sachet powder was slipped into two tiny bags which were suspended by baby ribbon. Wedding was slipped between two parts of cover. The quilting was effective on either side. "Chuck" Hunter and Norman Wallace In B.C. Golf Finals

Slim Tacoma Star Defeats Cecil Coville of Vancouver, 4 and 3 in Semi-finals, While Wallace Wins From Harold Brynjolfsson at Twentieth Hole; Three Consecutive Birdies Gives Victory to Hunter Who Shot Sensational Golf on Last Six Holes; Brynjolfsson Misses Eight-inch Putt on Eighteenth to Win Match.

"Chuck" Hunter of Tacoma, and Norman Wallace of the Macaulay Point Golf Club are meeting today in the final of the British Columbia men's amateur golf championship. In the semi-finals played at the Colwood Golf Club yesterday afternoon Hunter defeated Cecil Coville of Vancouver 4 and 3 while Wallace won from Harold Brynjolfsson at the twentieth hole after a thrilling match. Large galleries followed both matches and were treated to some real good golf.

Three birdies at the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth holes marked the turn in the Hunter-Coville match. At this stage the Tacoma uncorrupted some of the prettiest golf ever witnessed in this city. At the twelfth Hunter was one up. Coville laid his second shot dead on the pin while Hunter's was on the edge of the green. The Tacoma star then broke Coville's heart by sinking a beautiful chip shot. Before this it looked like the Vancouver player would square the match. At the thirteenth Coville topped his tee shot and took a five to Hunter's three. A splendid iron shot to within two feet of the pin gave Hunter his third consecutive birdie at the fourteenth. With the match at dormie four Hunter holed a long putt on the fifteenth for a half to end the match. For the fifteen holes Hunter was two up. His score for the last six holes was the best ever seen at Colwood. He was three under par, taking twenty-one for six holes. Hunter was in thirty-nine while Coville took forty. Hunter won the first three holes while the fourth was halved. Coville won the fifth with a birdie. Hunter took the sixth with a five. At the seventh Coville took a par three to cut the lead down to two up. A birdie at the eighth cut Hunter's advantage to one up and remained this at the turn, the ninth being halved.

HUNTER GOES AHEAD

Hunter won the tenth and Coville the eleventh and then the former star forged ahead with his three birdies. After missing an eight-inch putt on the eighteenth green for the match, Harold Brynjolfsson lost out to Norman Wallace at the twentieth. These two youngsters staged a great fight, with Wallace five up at the sixth. Brynjolfsson buckled down and proceeded to win the next six holes to go one up. He lost the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth to become two down again. At the sixteenth Brynjolfsson got a four to become one down. Another four at the seventeenth squared the match.

ARE NERVOUS

At the nervous and the two youngsters became nervous and after Wallace had missed a short putt Brynjolfsson missed his great opportunity by failing to sink a putt eight inches from the cup. The nineteenth was halved with Wallace winning his way into the final. By a victory over Coville, Hunter is now a favorite to win the title, although Wallace is expected to give him a hard match. Hunter was carried to the nineteenth hole in his third round match yesterday morning with Forvargue of Aberdeen, before pulling through with a win. The Aberdeen player had the game practically won at the eighteenth tee, having Hunter down one. However, he holed a putt eight inches from the cup between the eighteenth and nineteenth fairways. Hunter was well up on his drive. Forvargue played his ball on to the tenth fairway but Hunter managed to get over the trees on to the eighth green. He got into the woods again but played a fine shot to reach the green but Hunter won the hole with a five. At the nineteenth Forvargue had another fine opportunity to win when he laid his second shot on the edge of the green while Hunter's was in the rough. Hunter placed a splendid chip shot to within a few feet of the cup, while Forvargue's putt went fifteen feet past the cup. Hunter holed his putt to win the match.

Cecil Coville had no trouble winning his morning match, beating Alex Bull, also of Vancouver, 6 and 4. The latter was away off his game.

WOOD DEFEATED

Norman Wallace found a tartar in Freddy Wood of Vancouver, but managed to win 2 and 1. At the turn Wallace was two up. Wood tried to make a recovery at the nineteenth by sinking a birdie, but Wallace won the match by duplicating the feat.

In a real brotherly battle Harold Brynjolfsson eliminated his brother to clear from the tournament 5 and 3.

The results follow:

RIOT SEEN WHEN PORTS WIN TITLE

Players Engage in Free-for-all Near End of Game; Referee Is Attacked

Six Thousand Fans Treated to Thrilling Exhibition Which Ends 3-0

Winnipeg, April 1.—For the third time in five seasons, Port Arthur sits enthroned as monarch of Canadian amateur hockey. A rival bid for the kingship by Montreal's St. Xavier Intermediate, eastern champions, was finally crushed Saturday night as the lake men triumphed 3-0 in the third battle of the Allan Cup final. The series ended in a stick-handling melee of body checks and fast-paced action. The three-crowned titans galloped through an impressive series after a one-all opening game; draw, they colored successive 7-2 and 3-0 victories. Scoring once in the first and again in the middle-session of the last St. Francois game, the lake men virtually clinched the Allan Cup, leaving the closing twenty minutes for a conflict that verged on a free-for-all. Nearly 6,000 excited hockey lovers gazed wide-eyed on the panorama of wing-footed hockey speed at its best for forty minutes, followed by willow-wielding recklessness at its worst through a twenty-minute session, when Creighton and Berli clashed, and the rapid succession of thrills that ended there were but four minutes to go. Cheers and boos took on a frenzied note, but the pace-de-resistance was yet to be enacted.

REFREE QUIBBLES RIOT

Slurred verbally by goalie Gagnon as he swooped in on a rebound, Jimmy Creighton, star of the series, turned on the St. Francois net man. In an instant, the Montreal right winger, joined the duel, moving in to strike down Creighton. The Port's level-headed centre man sent Barli reeling with a straight right and the referee rushed in to quell a riot in which every player seemed to join. Barli and Creighton, main bout performers, were banished for five minutes and there were but four minutes to go. Cheers and boos took on a frenzied note, but the pace-de-resistance was yet to be enacted.

SPILLS REFERENCE

Members of the rival teams surrounded Referee Stan Burgoyne as he skated to the penalty box with the miscreant pair. Then Lucien Gagnon, St. Francois goalie, ranged against Burgoyne and swung a stick at the referee with a flick of the padded leg. In a moment the hold net man was elbowing his way into the cooler for a minute's stay and Andre Benoit, substitute forward, was brandishing a goal stick in the cage. Before the end of the game, Gagnon was back in the net, and Barli and Creighton were enroute to the dressing room. Wild rushes became four-man incursions and play was wide open as the siren sounded, making Port Arthur the first three-time tabbing as failure the title bid of the first intermediate team ever to reach a Dominion hockey final. Besides the decision placed by the nose ahead of the east in Allan Cup finals—with eleven victories in twenty-one seasons.

TO MORGAN TO DEFEND HIS CROWN

Real Scrap Expected When Junior Lightweight Champ Meets Zorilla

Bout to Take Place at Los Angeles Thursday; Van Porat to Meet Risko

New York, April 1.—With circus performers occupying the arenas usually given over to ring warriors in New York and Chicago, the fight spotlight this week will be divided between Los Angeles and Boston. The West gets the larger part of the calcium glare with a battle between Ted Morgan and Santiago Zorilla for the junior lightweight championship. The bout was scheduled for Tuesday night, but has been postponed until Thursday because of a bolt on Morgan's leg.

A real scrap is on the card when Morgan takes his title back to the city where he won it nearly four years ago. The little Californian and the twenty-one-year-old San Blas Indian have fought once before for the championship and Morgan felt the crown rocking on his head before it was over. The decision in that battle, which took place in San Francisco last Summer, was a draw. This time the jungle boy is a natural equal to the Californian and may be a slight favorite before they enter the ring.

HEAVYWEIGHTS MEET

Boston's contribution is a heavyweight struggle Thursday night between New York's featherweight champion, Norwegian from Chicago, and Cleveland's ex-continental for the championship, Johnny Risko. It is a fight from which almost anything may develop. Risko, considered leader among the big fellows only a year ago, has gone a long way on the downward path, but he still is able to do some real fighting. It was not until he was knocked out by Max Schmeling a few months ago that he was completely counted out of contention.

Von Porat, possessor of a paralyzing punch when in his make-up, has a few good fights and several bad ones on his record. His latest feat was an easy victory over the rugged rock from "Down Under" Tom Heeney, a few weeks ago. Thursday's battle against Risko is in the nature of a test as to whether he belongs among the top-notchers.

Heading the New York card is a ten-round bout between Dominic Petrone, New York featherweight, and Mack of Jersey City. Petrone is substituting for Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, former bantam champion, and the bout promises the promise of a close struggle.

LIONS AFTER THREE WINS

Vancouver Meets Seattle Tonight in Second Game of Hockey Playoff

Vancouver, B.C., April 1.—Intent on winning the championship of the Pacific Coast Hockey League in three straight games, the Vancouver Lions went into the first game here last night for Seattle to play the Eskimos to-night in the second game of the series. Friday night at the Vancouver arena, the Lions exhibited their superiority to the Eskimos by taking the second game aggregation into camp by a 2-0 count.

The Seattle arena, the Vancouver squad hope to make another clean up of the Eskimos and finish the series off on home ice, Tuesday evening. It is a matter of time before the boys in three straight games in a playoff series, but the Lions feel they are capable of it.

"We are out to win this series as much as possible and we are going to make strenuous efforts to win it in three straight," said Frank Patrick, Lions' boss, before the team left last night. "We can only win one game at a time, but we are out to win Monday night, and again Tuesday night and clean the thing up," Patrick added.

SUMMARY:
First period—1, Toronto, Convey (Conacher), 5:33. 2, Winnipeg, Duncanson (Gill), 9:33. Penalties—Gill, Levinsky.
Second period—3, Toronto, Conacher, 9:14. Penalties—Gill (2), Jackson, Kirk, Levinsky, Duncanson and McQuade.
Third period—4, Toronto, Conacher, 12:05. 5, Toronto, Hackett (Jackson), 12:11. Winnipeg, Kirk, 4:17. Penalties—none.

King of the Flyweights — By Jimmy Thompson

Playfair Brown, Canada's Tex Rickard, is back in the limelight. The king of the little fellows is planning to erect a two-million-dollar indoor track and sports arena in Toronto. If these plans are carried out, track meets, boxing, and hockey will be held under the same roof, and Toronto will have one of the finest indoor arenas in the country.

Mr. Brown will manage the famous "Spider" Pladner on his American tour. This latest achievement will put him ahead of his rivals at Madison Square Gardens, New York, who tried so hard to control the Frenchman's interests when he was here before.

Managers' Plagued By Usual Number of Injuries and Convalescences

Giants and Cubs in Excellent Shape; Many Pitchers Nurse Ailing Arms

New York, April 1.—Major league baseball teams working their way by easy stages from Southern and Western training camps to their home bases are moving toward the 1929 battlefield with mingled hopes and fears. Some are not in shape and others fear their condition may be too good with a vexing danger that they will not be able to sustain it until the season gets under way April 16.

Managers have been plagued by the usual quota of injuries and trainers are working overtime to get athletes in shape for the opening bell. Some of the plagues, notably Wilbert Robinson of Brooklyn, have to await the extent of convalescence shown by athletes. The Robins are watching with anxious eyes the condition of Glenn Wright's arm and Jake Flowers' tonsils.

AILING ARMS

Connie Mack is forced to wait for more encouraging reports on Bob Grove and George Earnshaw before he can map out his pitching plans and Miller Huggins, manager of the world's champion Yankees, left an able battery, in Herb Pennock and Benny Swengub behind at St. Petersburg when he started his circuitous route to New York by way of Texas and Oklahoma. Pennock and Bengough will let the sun aid in restoring ailing arms.

Burt Shotton for some time has looked with anxious eyes at the arm of Ray Benge, one of his star pitchers.

GIANTS IN FINE SHAPE

John McGraw has his New York Giants in excellent condition and Joe McCarthy has no worries over his reconditioned Chicago Cubs, but Donie Bush continues to experiment with his field and wonders, perhaps if Paul Waner will finally come into the fold and solve his outfield problem.

An American League manager seeking a winning combination is Stanley Harris making his bow to Detroit fans as manager of the Tigers.

Dan Howley, whose St. Louis Browns were the sensation in this league last season, seeks to combine good hitting with clever fielding and finds his task difficult.

New York, April 1.—When Max Schmeling returns to the United States for the spring heavyweight harvest it probably will be necessary to arrange a proxy vote to decide which faction of stockholders controls the German cloutier and which he is to fight.

So far, at least a dozen shareholders, managers and agents have taken an interest in finding out who is to fight the big German. Hopkins is a shareholder, including a delicatessen shopkeeper who claims a five per cent interest in Max, want to know when division will be declared.

If he can untangle himself, Schmeling, a la Luis Angel Firpo, declares he will do his own contract signing. When the big Argentinean was here a few years ago he did his own fighting, managed his own affairs and counted the financial returns personally.

The battle for springing honors among an unusually fine crop of young college stars will furnish one of the most interesting touches to the United States track season.

Claude Bracey, the Scotch greyhound, and George Simpson, Ohio state flash, already are at it. They were among the several stars who failed, after great effort, to hold top honors in the Olympic trials last year.

Simpson was going like a whirlwind right up to the final tryouts last July, but broke down, failed to recover the fine form he had shown previously in the west.

Only one United States sprinter, Jack Elder of Notre Dame, was able to beat Percy Williams indoors. The Canadian ace, who holds the Olympic championship, is looking for a chance to show his United States rivals another chance on the cinder paths. It is to be hoped he may do it at one or more of the early spring relay carnivals.

Boston, once the greatest of baseball strongholds, now prefers to enjoy its world's championships in the Spring. The Boston Bruins sailed through the world's hockey series just as the Bruins of baseball trampled the Athletics in 1914, without the loss of a single title game.

It was a sensation last year when the New York Yankees broke through to capture the world's hockey championship, thereby bringing the main crown of Canada's national winter sport to the United States. To make matters worse from the Dominion point of view it was an all-American final this year, with Boston arrayed against the Rangers.

Six of the ten franchises in the National Hockey League now are operated in United States cities. Control, as well as domination of ice hockey, appears to be steadily passing to the United States, where bigger cities, bigger crowds and bigger gate receipts are the main factors. Montreal still is a two-city town, rivaling New York, but Ottawa has had difficulty keeping its sport to the United States. Cleveland and Philadelphia eager to seize it.

Pavement Pounders Off On Long Jaunt

"Cash and Carry" Pyle's Second Annual Bunion Derby Starts From New York With 500,000 Persons Lining the Course; First Stop is Made at Elizabeth, N.J.; Milling Mob Ties Up Start; Will Rogers Starts Transcontinental Grind; Race is Halted When Polish Competitor Misses Ferry.

Elizabeth, N.J., April 1.—Out of a welter of curious Easter Sunday promenaders jamming Columbus Circle so that even the runners were lost in the crowd, Charles C. (Cash and Carry) Pyle's second annual cross-country foot race started from New York yesterday and wound up at Elizabeth, first stop on the way to Los Angeles, California, with Ed. Gardner, Seattle negro, in the lead.

The eighty-one assorted sizes of athletes, after fighting their way through a crowd of close to 25,000 at the start, jogged through the city streets, ferried across the Hudson and pedaled through Weehawken, Jersey City, Harrison and into Elizabeth with almost 500,000 persons lining the twenty-four-mile way.

The swift ride on the ferry, adding speed and cutting down the running distance, enabled Gardner to cover the first of the eighty laps in 1:30.30, with the second man, Sam Richmond of New York, only fifteen seconds behind. The Belgian brothers, Karl and Juhl Cois, distance champions of their homeland and both strong runners, finished third and fourth.

Clad in every type of converted running costume, from red flannels down to a hybrid type of silk football uniform, the runners set out on their 3,400-mile jaunt under anything but auspicious circumstances. There was a warm sun and bright skies overhead. Dozens of motorcycle policemen, speeding escort, cars and cheering thousands, but the crowd at the start, lured by the sight of waving flags, completely upset Pyle's plans.

So dense were the strollers, rubbernecking about in a milling mob in an attempt to find out what was happening, that Will Rogers, the cowboy comedian, fired the starting pistol at 3 p.m. from a cramped position nowhere near the athletes and started the throng in two directions. The runners fought their way clear and on to the road to the ferry while spectators, many of them still not knowing that the bunion derby was the cause of the excitement, headed for cover in the opposite direction, dragging women and children with them. Pyle's greying thatch, thinning somewhat by professional contact with professional football and pro tennis, as well as the first bunion derby, appeared to grow greyer still in the confusion.

ONE MISSES BOAT
Harry Abramowitz, veteran, with Gardner and Richmond of the first cross-country race, headed the negro star second. Amid the confusion and excitement the runners were carried across to the Jersey shore, only to discover that one of their number had missed the boat. Scores found the missing one, George Juszek of Poland, still pedaling carefully down the cobblestones of Eleventh Avenue, and brought him back to the start later.

The race was halted until he arrived. Oakland, Cal., April 1.—Splitting in two games yesterday, Oakland bled the hopes of the highly touted San Francisco Missions by losing the first game of the series, 4-3, and the Oaks came back in the afternoon to stop the contest by the same score. The morning game saw the Missions shut out thirteen hits off Hurst and Daglia. The teams went scoreless for five frames in the afternoon and the Oaks went into a permanent lead in the sixth with a three-run flurry. Craghead pitched all the way for the winners, the Missions using Nelson, Hubsell and Hubble.

At Oakland:
First game—R. H. E.
Missions 4 13 1
Oaks 3 9 2

Los Angeles, April 1.—Los Angeles made it five out of seven in their opening series with the Seattle Indians here yesterday by taking both ends of a double bill, 16-0 and 7-3. In the opener the Angels pounded Jim Edwards to the showers with a nine-run attack in three innings, and continued their run getting in spite of Phipps, Lamanski and Ault, who followed him on the mound. Lamanski retired when a line drive off the bat of D. Sandberg broke a finger on his pitching hand. Wes Shulmitch and Ray Jacobs each garnered three hits in the first game. Augie Walsh was a puzzle to the Indians and was credited with the first shutout of the season.

At Los Angeles:
First game—R. H. E.
Seattle 0 0 5
Los Angeles 16 17 0
Batteries—Phipps, Lamanski, Ault and Steinbeck; Cox, Walsh, Childs and Sandberg.

Sacramento, Cal., April 1.—Sacramento took both games of the first double-header played this season, defeating Hollywood in the morning game at Stockton, 7-3, and coming back in the nightcap, 12-7. In the afternoon 8,000 fans jammed the park to honor Joe Harris, who was given the day in his honor by patriotic organizations of the Sacramento Valley. Earl Kunz started to pitch the morning game, but was jerked in the first inning by a fast ball from the hurler, Huiey, Chesterfield and Marty, none of which could stem the Solon slugger.

At Stockton:
First game—R. H. E.
Hollywood 3 12 2
Sacramento 7 12 1
Batteries—Hull and Bassler; Kunz, Bryan and Koehler.
Second game—R. H. E.

ONE OF SEASON'S BEST ROOKIES

It is said by smart baseball men that Dick Ferrell, young catcher with the St. Louis Browns, is one of the best young catchers to hit the major leagues in years. Ferrell was with Columbus in the American Association last season and sold himself to the Browns after he was made a free agent by Judge Landis when the Giants and Tigers got into a fuss about his rights to him. The Browns gave him $25,000 to sign and they say he is worth every penny of it.

CAPITALS OUTCLASSED BY ADANACS

New Westminster Team Scores 36-16 Win in Final For B.C. Hoop Title

Local Champions Away Off in Shooting; Visitors Led 15-6 at Half-time

Poor shooting and the fast passing attack of the New Westminster Adanacs spelled defeat for the Victoria Capitals in the British Columbia Senior "A" basketball final at the High School gymnasium on Saturday night. The Adanacs gained their 36-16 victory by outpassing and outshooting the locals. The visitors took an early lead and were never headed throughout.

At the conclusion of the game Mayor Anson presented the Chesterfield trophy to Doug Fraser, skipper of the Adanacs. Play opened with both teams playing careful ball. Louis Fatt had the first shot at the basket but missed. Fraser opened the scoring two minutes after the start from outside the foul line. McKenzie equalized on a long shot from centre. The Adanacs then went on a scoring rampage and the Capitals, after one by Gifford and two by Mayers gave them a commanding lead. Butler then scored a foul and McKean sunk one from centre. At this stage of the game the Capitals replaced Webster. Forbes then got a free throw for the locals and McKenzie duplicated the act. Boyer scored the last basket of the half from close in. At the rest interval the visitors were on the long end 15-6.

After the resumption of play, McKean collected a foul. Forbes scored from close in but the basket was disallowed. McKenzie got two free throws for the Capitals and Mayers got two for the Adanacs.

At this stage of the game the packed gallery expressed their opinion on one of Fraser's decisions by a chorus of boos. Twice "Buck" awarded technical fouls on the crowd and then stopped the game. Norm Forbes asked the crowd if they would stop in the penalty. Boyer and Forbes were the pick of the losers.

The teams were:
Adanacs—Gifford, 2, W. Mayers, 10, McKean, 8, Fraser, 3, H. Mayers, Butler, 8, Hood, 1 and Willie, 2.
Capitals—Boyd, 4, Wachter, Forbes, 3, Cudlip, Shikings, 2, Willoughby, McKean, 6, Pat, and Webster, 1.
Flashing great baskets in the second half, the C.P.S. defeated Victoria College 26-8 in the preliminary game.

Scoring summary:
Adanacs—Gifford, 8, Butler, 3, S. Skilling, 11, Pagarburg, 1, Woolridge and Davis, 3.
Capitals—Bissell, 1, Patterson, 1, White, 3, Foubister, 2, Chapman, 5, Rogers, 6 and Gilmour, 1.
P. E. Margeson defeated A. H. Beasley by default.
Second Round
S. Brynjolfsson defeated A. V. Price, 2 up.

WESTS TO PLAY CITY IN FINAL FOR SOCCER CUP

"Barney" Burns's Goal Gives Victoria City 2-1 Win Over Saanich Thistles

Greenshirted Wests Eliminate Westholmes By 6-0 at Beacon Hill

Eliminating Saanich Thistles and Westholmes by scores of 2-1 and 6-0, respectively, Victoria City and Wests won their way to the final of the Jackson Cup soccer series on Saturday. In the game between the Thistles and the City, play was fairly evenly divided until the second half. The Westholmes, playing with only nine men, had very little chance against the Wests.

Heading the ball into the net from Cameron's corner kick in the dying minutes of the game, Barney Burns, fast centre forward for Victoria City, gave his team a 2-1 victory over Saanich Thistles at the Royal Athletic Park.

SAANICH ATTACKING
Keeping the ball in the air, Saanich pressed into the City's territory at the opening of the game. Buckwell and Margison, City fullbacks, put up a stonewall defence, but several times the Thistles had opportunities to get in on the goal. Easter sent in a hard drive and followed up but Bridges cleared with his hands.

The City forced play back to centre, but before the forwards could get in any effective play, the ball was returned to their own end with high kicks.

HARPER NETS BALL
When the half was well advanced, Saanich was awarded a free kick when one of the City backs handled the ball. Harper sent the ball between the uprights on a hard drive from just outside the penalty area.

The City went on the offensive from the centre, and several times penetrated the Saanich back division. Five minutes after Harper's goal, the City staged a sustained attack on Rogers in the Thistles' net. Preston got his foot to the ball a few yards out, and sent in a shot which was deflected into the goal.

Using the wind to advantage in the second half, the City forwards forced play into Saanich's end. Glancy sent in a centre down on the goal from the left wing, but Rodgers cleared. Harper cleared Joe Crowe worried the City's first line of attack and broke up several dangerous rushes.

NEARLY SCORED
The City hit but scored when a Thistle back miskicked and placed the ball in his own goal mouth. Burns rushed in and headed the ball. It hit the crossbar and Darrell Bissell put his head to it on the rebound. The ball just skimmed over the top of the goal.

Saanich made a determined effort to score from the goal kick. Margison returned play to the Thistles' end with a long kick.

The City forwards forced a corner when the Thistles' defence, three behind his own line to clear. On the second corner, Cameron placed the ball directly in front of the goal. Burns nearly scored his head.

Two more corners were given to the City before the game ended but neither proved effective.

Alcock refereed and the teams lined up:
Victoria City—Bridges, Margison, Tickwell, Stoffer, Preston, McBay, Cameron, D. Bissell, Burns, Smith and Glancy.

Saanich Thistles—Rodger, Joe Crowe, Harper, Armstrong, Viggers, Jim Crowe, Minnis, Richardson, Essler, Price and Ewing.

Two goals by Passmore and one each by Conington, J. Sherratt, Mulcahy and Goddard spelled victory for Victoria West in their match against a weak Saanich Westholme team at Beacon Hill Park.

With a strong wind against them in the first half, and two of their men lacking, the hotelmen were forced to let the Wests run over them for a 6-0 win.

For the major part of the game, the ball remained in front of the Westholmes' goal and only the uncertain strength of the wind, which spoiled the Greenshirts' shooting, saved the hotelmen from a more severe whitewash.

CONORTON OPENS SCORING
In the opening half, Conorton sent the ball into the hotelmen's net when he headed a nice pass from Mulcahy. Passmore scored the second corner before the period ended.

The Wests forwards steadied down in the second half and ran in four more goals while the Westholmes went scoreless.

Pat Mulcahy on the Wests left wing was the outstanding player of the day, while Jim Sherratt, playing inside, turned in a good performance.

T. M. Robb refereed and the teams were:
Victoria West—Hetherington, Whyte, Williams, Godwin, Peden, S. Sherratt, Conorton, Stewart, Passmore, J. Sherratt, Mulcahy.

Westholmes—Tipper, Rutman, Carmichael, Carver, Vickers, MacDonald, Southern, Sneddon, Johnson.

AMATEUR FIGHT TITLES DECIDED

Keen Competition Seen at Finals; Art Spruston Wins Over Frankie Hall

The finals for the Vancouver Island amateur boxing championships were fought before a good crowd of fans at the Tillikum Gymnasium Saturday night. All the fights were fast, with lots of mixing.

Fighting at 165 pounds, Art Spruston, Chemainus, won from Frankie Hall, local man. Except for the first round, Spruston had an easy time and displayed an aggressive attack that had Hall completely fooled.

Chief of Police Fry prevented what would probably have been a regular slaughter, when he stopped the fight between Tommy Drysdale and John Williamson, Chemainus. Drysdale was far the better and hit Williamson with just about everything except the ring posts, until Chief Fry threw in the towel, giving Drysdale a technical K.O. They fought at 185 pounds.

Clarence Leask and Herbert Sutton fought one of the prettiest fights on the card. Leask with a slightly longer reach, gave more punishment than he received, but Sutton was trying hard for a knockout, and got reckless, giving Leask the decision.

A straight fight in the second round proved the undoing of Dave Barr in his match with Walter Scott. This blow upset him and Scott took the decision.

In the curtain-raiser, young Buxton took the decision from Jack McGillivray. The fact that he weighed fifteen pounds less weight.

A complete list of champions follows:
175 pounds—Tim Gurney, Fulford.
165 pounds—Art Spruston, Chemainus.
155 pounds—Tommy Drysdale, Victoria.
145 pounds—Clarence Leask, Victoria.
85 to 95 pounds—Walter Scott, Victoria.
65 to 80 pounds—Billy Buxton, Victoria.

San Diego, Calif., April 1.—Flying Heels, Clifford A. Cochran's star colt by Flying Ebony and Heeltops, proved easily best in the Tia Juana Futurity of the $7500 added stage which brought down the curtain on the race meeting here yesterday.

The fact that he weighed fifteen pounds less and the time for the five furlongs was fifty-two seconds.

It was decided to open the season on May 6 with games on Monday and Thursday nights. The schedule will be released at the next meeting.

N. Kerr was selected as secretary-treasurer, while the executive committee will be composed of J. L. Tait, J. P. Sylvester and L. Wooster. An Unpublished Association has been organized and will handle all games. The umpires' meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at The Colonist office to draw up the rules for the coming season.

The playing schedule will continue until about the middle of August.

Tia Juana, April 1.—Horse racing results follow:

Popular Star Will Have Leading Role in Picture Filmed in Northern Arizona

The robe of a Navajo medicine man, made entirely of eagle feathers and considered priceless by the Indians of the northern Arizona reservation, almost caused a day's delay in the production of Richard Dix's new starring picture, "Redskin," at the Capitol Theatre for three days this week. Most of the scenes were made on location in Northern Arizona.

"Redskin" was produced under conditions of extreme difficulty. Victor Schertzinger, directing the Dix starring picture, entered into a tribal conference with the Navajo medicine men to obtain permission to use the eagle feather robe. After considerable debate he was granted the desired permission.

The robe was being worn by Bernard Siegel, playing the part of an Indian medicine man in "Redskin," when a huge Navajo buck stalked into the scene. Schertzinger, thinking he was encountering an innocent intruder, ordered the scene to be taken again. Once more the Navajo followed Siegel into the space before the lenses.

The Navajo proved to be a guard, assigned by his tribe to stay close to the eagle feather robe. In spite of the director's pleading, the Navajos refused to let the scene be made without the repeated rehearsal, the action was so arranged that the Indian appeared in

Popular Coliseum Players Will Offer One of Their Finest Attractions

All British Film, "Sailor's Don't Care," Is Title of Screen Offering

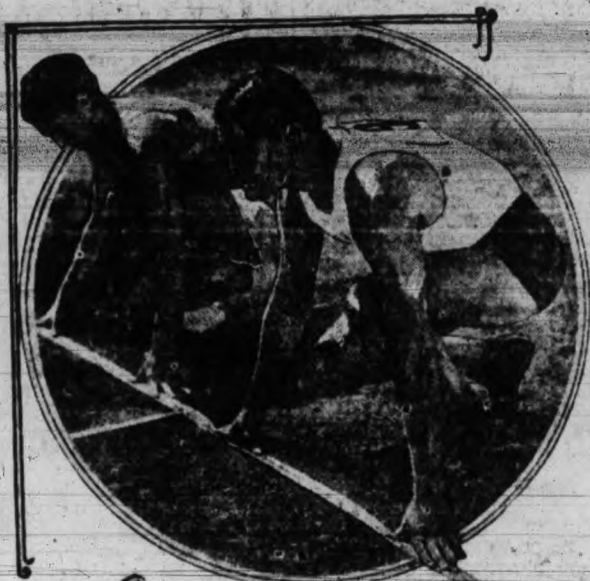

With another stage presentation that promises to be as popular as former ones offered in Victoria since the company arrived here more than two months ago, the Coliseum Players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Letich, will open the current week at the Coliseum Theatre this evening commencing at 8.30 o'clock. There will be shows every evening during the week, with matinee performances on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

"The Balloon Girl" is the title of this week's stage attraction, and according to Director Letich, it is one of the finest in his extensive repertoire. In other cities where it has been presented, it has always had successful runs and Victoria will probably be no exception to that rule. There will be plenty of comedy running through the show as well as more serious turns. And the plot is a good one, the characters well cast, and the scenery pleasing, so that all in all this week's show should give all who see it a most enjoyable evening's entertainment. Headed by Miss Leque Weber, dainty leading lady with the company and "Toby" Letich, the cast includes Miss Ada Daniels, Miss Esther Todd, Paul Wallace, Forrest Taylor, Leon Cluff and Lorus Bagley.

On the screen this week, Manager George McEwan is presenting an all-British film that is bound to please Victorians. Entitled "Sailors Don't Care," it is not a war film in the ordinary sense of the reference, but is rather a comedy of naval life on the lower deck, into which a romantic element has been introduced by the rivalry of two shipmates for the same parrot, and a dramatic theme afforded by the counter-operations of Q-ships and U-boats. Apart from an espionage plot, acts of war are confined to the film to the single incident of an exciting Q-ship and U-boat encounter, ending in the sinking of the latter.

The Admiralty afforded facilities for filming scenes aboard H.M.S. "Champion," light cruiser, and the Q-boat of the film is "Mandrake," which did similar service in the war. A cast of popular British favorites are in the leading roles. Estelle Brody is the parrotmaid in question, the apple of discord for the two sailors, ably played by John Stuart and Air Goddard. Humberston Wright has the role of a veteran, whom a sense of duty induces to shave his beard and join the Navy. Mary Brough is excellent as a cook, and Gladys Hamer will bring the house down in her role of a very sentimental housemaid. The film was directed by W. P. Kelling.

"DESERT SONG"
TUNEFUL OPERA
WITH BIG CAST

More Than 100 Players Will Be Seen and Heard Here in Great Productions Shortly

Perry Askam and Elvira Tanzi, Original Stars, Will Have Leading Roles

Looking for new worlds to conquer, Lillian Albertson's romantic operetta "The Desert Song," will come to this city on April 27, 28 and 29 and be presented at the Royal Theatre for an engagement of three days and a Wednesday matinee. The same company as rolled up the remarkable gross receipts of over $1,000,000 during its year's engagement in California will appear here.

It is said that "The Desert Song" is unusual in more ways than one. It not only tells a fascinating tale of romance, adventure and love amidst the picturesque sands of the Moroccan desert, but it has a musical score considered the best that Sigmond Romberg, composer of "The Student Prince" and "Blossom Time," has so far written. Then again this delightful stage entertainment brings forth the men as chief bidders for public favor. Right at the start of the operetta, a number entitled "Ho!" and designated as the riding song for the Riffa, fairly electrifies every audience. As it is rendered by one of the best male choruses ever heard outside of grand opera.

MALE CHORUS
"One Alone," sung by Perry Askam, who is the "Red Shadow" of the story, is another reason for the popularity of the male members of the cast. For again in this number the male chorus shines resplendently. "The Desert Song" is another number of exceptional appeal that falls to the lot of the men. Then "One Flower in Your Garden" sheds additional lustre upon the men, for, as rendered by David Reese, it never fails to receive several encores.

But little Elvira Tanzi, an eighteen-year-old Italian miss, a possessor of a beautiful soprano voice, more than holds her own with the men as she renders "Romance" and brilliantly plays her own accompaniment on the harp.

There is rich comedy in "The Desert Song," and plenty of it. Eddie Fetherston takes good care of this, ably assisted by Myrtle Crinley. The rest of the company of 100 players, singers and dancers, with an unusual variety of pretty girls, will all be seen and heard here without any material change from the original line-up of more than a year ago. Cecil Stewart's symphony orchestra is another unchanged feature.

"The Bellamy Trial" Will Be Feature Screen Offering on Talkie Reel

Leatrice Joy, as the Woman on Trial, Heads a Splendid Cast of Popular Stars

Monta Bell, his cameraman and the player who enacted the role, were the only persons at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio who witnessed the murder which provides the plot for "The Bellamy Trial," the new sound and talking special which is playing at the Dominion Theatre.

Because of the surprise ending of the mystery drama which he adapted from the magazine story by Frances Joyce Hart, Bell went to unusual lengths to preserve the element of suspense up to the very last footage.

For this reason when the "murder" took place during the filming all members of the cast were excused from the set and a high wall enclosure cut off the view of curious eyes.

MUCH SECRECY

Margaret Livingston was the woman who was "killed," but she refused to let any of her studio associates in on the secret. The cameraman said he was too busy grinding to notice who made the fatal knife thrust and Bell just laughed when asked about the "slayer's" identity.

"I refuse to answer on the ground that I may incriminate myself," he declared.

Spectators, who see the picture, automatically try to figure out who was responsible for the murder. The surprise disclosure that comes at the end of the film shatters many amateur detective hopes.

Makes Road History Through Wilderness

Italian Driver, Jose Mario Barone, Arrives in New York After Two-year Trip From Buenos Ayres; Three Mechanics Die During Journey Which Took Party Through Wilderness and Forest of South America; Bandits Hold Him Back and Natives Threaten Him in Jungle.

Shrieking sirens of a motorcycle police escort and congratulations from acting Mayor McKee of New York greeted a wiry little Italian race driver and aviator at the conclusion of the first successful automobile trip linking North and South America.

Jose Mario Barone, Pan-American trail blazer, who left Rio de Janeiro more than two years ago in a 1922 Studebaker light six touring car, arrived in New York, March 1. Nearly 20,000 miles of plain, mountain, jungle and desert, lay behind Barone as he drove along Broadway to meet the welcoming committee at the City Hall, where he was presented by Judge Francis Mancuso of the Italian Historical Society, Count Roberti, Italian Vice Consul, and Paul Caccarelli, chairman of the reception committee.

The intercontinental trip from Rio de Janeiro to New York by automobile has tempted many dare devil drivers from Latin America, according to Barone, who states that more than two score cars have started north, with New York as their objective, and failed. Yet Barone and his battered Studebaker, which had seen more than 100,000 miles of "stunt" driving before the start of this journey, came through.

SETBACKS
They came through despite avalanches, fever, and the vicissitudes of a long trail which cost the lives of three mechanics who had thrown in their lot with this adventurous little Italian at various stages of the journey. Barone himself satisfies every popular requirement as the intrepid adventurer. He was a motor driver in Northern Africa with the Italian army before he was out of his teens. At the age of thirty-four, he now took back on a career as an aviator with the Italians during the World War, then as a stunt driver, automobile racer, and one-man motor car circus in Italy, Spain, Brazil and the Argentine. "The crowning stunt of his circus performance is a 'leap of death' in which he charges his car up a steep ramp, jumps a thirty-foot gap, and lands on another ramp.

He is a typical Latin—debonair, smiling, voluble, with a tiny silk Italian flag sewn on his worn leather driving helmet and another on the lapel of the extraordinary garment that serves him as overcoat, raincoat, and what not. He speaks no English, but one of his proudest accomplishments is the singing of "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," which he learned from some British Tommies during the war.

Most characteristic of this wiry little man's personality is the startling emblem found on his car—similar to the one painted on the fuselage of his plane during the war. It is a white skull and crossbones, superimposed on a big red heart. "My heart is ever in the hands of death," he will explain.

The car Barone used in staging his "circus" was the same 1922 Studebaker he so proudly drove into New York. It was purchased in 1924 as a used car. More than two years of stunting and racing was the "breaking in" it received for the trip which was to make transportation history.

COMPANION KILLED
The start of the tour was made in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. With a companion, one Ugo Comelli, Barone started for Buenos Ayres, arriving there twenty-three days later, and incidentally establishing a new record for this trip. To Comelli, Barone had pointed out that the expenses of the trip could be met by racing and stunting en route. The first of his races was entered in Buenos Ayres. With it occurred the first tragedy of the trip.

up for two days by a blizzard. Finally they reached the city, but too late. Scuderoni never recovered from his fever. Barone pushed on, alone, toward Lima, Peru.

Progress during the first stage of this journey was fairly rapid. But from Cuzco to Lima dangers and difficulties beset the lone traveler in almost overwhelming numbers. The distance, as the crow flies, is some 300 miles. As Barone traveled, it lengthened to 900 miles. That leg of the trip required three and a half months of struggle through savage mountain wilderness. Natives engaged to help clear a way for the car plotted to kill Barone and steal his effects. Barone drove them away at the point of his gun, engaged other natives, and for two weeks ate nothing but prepared by his own hands for fear of being poisoned. His own supply of rations at last gave out, and for several days he was without food. At length, Lima, and fifteen long days in hospital before he was again ready to travel.

On again he went with a new mechanic—Eugene Oresci. Slow progress over mountain trails, an occasional stream bed, an infrequent railroad right of way, Guayaquil, via Florea, Quaranda, Ambata, and at last Quito in Ecuador. Three hundred miles, and another four months.

THIRD MECHANIC KILLED
Near Attaguer death reached again for Barone—and took his mechanic. The edge of a mountain trail gave way and the car plunged down the steep slope. Barone suffered a frightfully maimed hand and lacerations about the face and body. Oresci was crushed so badly that death seemed inevitable. But five miles up the mountain was a village. Blinded by sweat and blood, Barone bore his suffering companion to the cluster of huts. No doctor, only a priest, but by that time the priest alone was needed. Barone and the priest buried the man next day.

The car was a wreck, crushed by boulders and half buried in the fallen rock. With the help of natives Barone literally took the car apart and carried it to the village. There, with his own kit as the aid of a local blacksmith, he rebuilt the car and went on—again alone.

Another mechanic, Alessandro de la Torre threw in his lot with this miraculous midge of a man at Cali, Colombia. Together they struggled on. Travel was slower than ever. At length they reached Panama. The only way across the Isthmus was by water, or the tracks of the Panama railroad. Armed with a special running order as an "extra train," and accompanied by E. Hopkins, Studebaker Panama distributor, who is an old-time conductor, Barone took to the ties. After months of the jungle it seemed a boulevard to Barone.

Central America offered more struggle through jungle and swamp. Much of the distance Barone drove a burro ahead of him. The fierce work on him to his middle. Barone knew the car could not get through, and either cut a detour, or make a new roadbed in which the car would not sink over the hubs. In spite of these precautions the car many times was mired so deeply that the wheels almost disappeared in muck and water.

Sandino's bandits caught him in Nicaragua. They took Barone's money, his gun, 10,000 feet of precious motion picture film. The Italian begged the return of some clothing. His car was such a dilapidated wreck that Comelli was thrown from the car as it plunged over the rough course, and killed.

Used Barone been able to visualize the hardships that lay ahead the trip would have ended right there. But denied such vision, he struck off with a new mechanic, Castorino Scuderoni. Heading north from Buenos Ayres, they soon reached the end of anything that faintly resembled roads. With nothing but their compass, a rough map, and the word of natives to guide them, they fought their way toward Bolivia.

Sometimes the way was open. More often they fought through the swamps and jungles of the interior, literally carving their road before them with machetes. Clinging vines and bush undergrowth were the least of their enemies, for fever stalked them at every hand. Barone fought it off, while Scuderoni slowly sank as they turned their course toward the Andes. In spite of the higher altitudes, there were days of delirium during which Barone's struggles with his companion were as racking as those required to move the car.

ANOTHER DEATH
La Paz became a goal which meant the life of the mechanic. They crossed the Andes in the barren, stony region of Tres Cruces, where they were held ties thought it worthless, and finally allowed Barone to proceed.

The U.S. Marines gave him food and some clothing, and much advice. They forbade him to continue onward, and after he had cabled for funds, saw him load his car on a boat and start up the coast. Once past the marine lines, he was soon ashore again.

At San Salvador he was joined by Alfredo Massi, a boyhood acquaintance. Massi replaced his mechanic, who had had enough. Guatemala City, and then Mexico, where he found roads, once again—and more bandits.

In Mexico Barone picked up his last mechanic, Harry Knauff, a Pennsylvanian who had come to seek his fortune in Mexico. But he was homesick for the north. He begged what became the longest hitch-hike in history.

INTO THE STATES
Barone and his battered Studebaker crossed the border into the United States at Laredo, Texas, then followed a route through Oklahoma, Missouri, and Illinois to South Bend, where he showed his car to the men who had built it seven years ago. From there he followed the Lincoln Highway into New York City—to journey's end and a glorious welcome.

The worst part of the trip: Barone makes a grimace, and says it was be-repairs were often of the crudest sort as indicated by the reference made by a Panama newspaper to a home-made wheel on the car as it rattled into Cristobal.

Barone bears many marks of his struggles. His right leg is badly scarred from the tumble in Colombia which killed his mechanic. There, too, he lost most of one finger, which was cruelly amputated on the spot. As he was thrown out of the car he struck his forehead against the windshield. The bridge of his nose was cut so deeply that for months he was unable to breathe properly. His encounter with bandits in Nicaragua brought him a flesh wound in the right arm, where a bullet passed through his elbow just as he was aiming a shot at his assailants.

Some day in the future a great highway will be a bond of friendship linking the two Americas into one community. Then the experience of Jose Mario Barone will seem as far away and romantic as the first pioneer caravan of covered wagons that won its way to California across the great American desert.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Reality" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think of these things" (Philippians iv 8), was one of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson-sermon.

Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were also read from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following: from page 360: "Dear reader, which mind-picture or externalized thought shall be real to you—the material or the spiritual? Both you cannot have. You are bringing out your own ideal. This ideal is up for two days by a blizzard. Finally they reached the city, but too late. Scuderoni never recovered from his fever. Barone pushed on, alone, toward Lima, Peru.

Progress during the first stage of this journey was fairly rapid. But from Cuzco to Lima dangers and difficulties beset the lone traveler in almost overwhelming numbers. The distance, as the crow flies, is some 300 miles. As Barone traveled, it lengthened to 900 miles. That leg of the trip required three and a half months of struggle through savage mountain wilderness. Natives engaged to help clear a way for the car plotted to kill Barone and steal his effects. Barone drove them away at the point of his gun, engaged other natives, and for two weeks ate nothing but prepared by his own hands for fear of being poisoned. His own supply of rations at last gave out, and for several days he was without food. At length, Lima, and fifteen long days in hospital before he was again ready to travel.

On again he went with a new mechanic—Eugene Oresci. Slow progress over mountain trails, an occasional stream bed, an infrequent railroad right of way, Guayaquil, via Florea, Quaranda, Ambata, and at last Quito in Ecuador. Three hundred miles, and another four months.

THIRD MECHANIC KILLED
Near Attaguer death reached again for Barone—and took his mechanic. The edge of a mountain trail gave way and the car plunged down the steep slope. Barone suffered a frightfully maimed hand and lacerations about the face and body. Oresci was crushed so badly that death seemed inevitable. But five miles up the mountain was a village. Blinded by sweat and blood, Barone bore his suffering companion to the cluster of huts. No doctor, only a priest, but by that time the priest alone was needed. Barone and the priest buried the man next day.

The car was a wreck, crushed by boulders and half buried in the fallen rock. With the help of natives Barone literally took the car apart and carried it to the village. There, with his own kit as the aid of a local blacksmith, he rebuilt the car and went on—again alone.

Another mechanic, Alessandro de la Torre threw in his lot with this miraculous midge of a man at Cali, Colombia. Together they struggled on. Travel was slower than ever. At length they reached Panama. The only way across the Isthmus was by water, or the tracks of the Panama railroad. Armed with a special running order as an "extra train," and accompanied by E. Hopkins, Studebaker Panama distributor, who is an old-time conductor, Barone took to the ties. After months of the jungle it seemed a boulevard to Barone.

Central America offered more struggle through jungle and swamp. Much of the distance Barone drove a burro ahead of him. The fierce work on him to his middle. Barone knew the car could not get through, and either cut a detour, or make a new roadbed in which the car would not sink over the hubs. In spite of these precautions the car many times was mired so deeply that the wheels almost disappeared in muck and water.

Sandino's bandits caught him in Nicaragua. They took Barone's money, his gun, 10,000 feet of precious motion picture film. The Italian begged the return of some clothing. His car was such a dilapidated wreck that

Sunrise Service Is Panorama of Beauty

Glorious Sun Shines Over
Throng of Worshippers at Mount Tolmie

Congregation Approximates
8,000 at Easter Morn Gathering; Dr. Davies Speaks

Under a glorious Easter sky in which the early morning sun shone in all its beauty, the seventh annual sunrise service was held at Mount Tolmie yesterday.

Worshipers flocked to the mount from all parts of the city and its environs to attend the gathering which was the most successful yet held. Estimates of the attendance range between 6,000 and 8,000.

The united voice of this multitude was wafted into the light morning air by huge loudspeakers and amplifiers, and the clear notes of the choir and soloists reached all parts of the hill top.

Police departments of the city, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt joined in handling the large crowd. Special bus and street car services enabled many of the congregation to reach the mount at the early hour.

SWELLING CHORUS

The service opened with Jackson's "Te Deum," which was led by the choir. The gentle morning breeze carried the notes of this anthem over the city. Two hymns, "The Day of Resurrection" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," followed, while the choir rendered "Up From the Grave He Arose."

"Hosanna" was beautifully rendered by Thomas Kelway, and the ringing tones of the soloist were heard not only by the multitude on the hill, but by others two and three miles away.

READING

Rev. Dr. Clem Davies led the congregation in a responsive reading, following which the hymn "Come, Ye Saints, Look Here and Wonder," was sung.

Taking as his sermon subject, "Why I Believe in a Future Life," Dr. Davies said that "while continuing after death was a supposition which perhaps could not be demonstrated, nevertheless nothing worth proving can be proven. We are all the time fashioning our conduct upon probabilities, and this attitude seems to work. It is not hard for me to believe that spirit is indestructible when I am informed by scientists that matter is not destroyed. The things that have endured in worth-while nations have been spiritual, while the material has been forgotten or disappeared. Death may change the form of life, but it cannot change the life itself. The life can survive death's incident," he continued.

HUMAN DESIRE

"Mother Nature always has satisfied our deepest human desires. We hunger for food—Nature feeds the desire. We long for love—that longing is met in human relationships and family life. We long for immortality—it is the greatest desire of human life. Shall this not unreasonable hunger remain unsatisfied? "The great souls from antiquity to now have believed in continuance after death. Plato writing his classic argument for immortality, Cicero in the Roman Senate declaring his faith in the life beyond, Dante picturing in his Divine Comedy that we shall live forever, Kant building his thesis that man shall not die; Jesus Christ facing the Cross with confidence—all these, not ignorant, but great minds who have by their superior intellects believed in the Institute's report recently.

There was a good attendance at the weekly card party held under the auspices of the social committee of the Women's Institute on Wednesday evening, visitors being present from Victoria, Royal Oak, Colwood, Happy Valley and Luxton.

At the progressive bridge tables, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cuthbertson carried off the first prize, while Mrs. A. Dresser and Jack Wilkinson received the consolation prize. Competition ran high for the five hundred honors.

Mrs. H. Parker and Mrs. C. Campbell tying for first prize. On a cut of the cards Mrs. H. Parker obtained the prize, C. Campbell winning the one for gentlemen. The consolation prize went to Mrs. J. Lowe and E. H. Parker.

Mystery prizes added to the pleasure of the evening and were won by A. B. Cuthbertson and Mrs. Robertson for bridge, and Mrs. Longworthy and J. Lowe for five hundred.

Daffodils graced the supper table which was served by the social committee. The visitors from Happy Valley were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lowe, Mrs. J. H. Robinson, A. J. Tyler, W. H. Bosworth, E. C. Parker, Hugh Ridley, J. L. Hillborn. Royal Oak visitors included: Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waring and family from Victoria, have moved to Mabbille, Millstream Road.

Special anthems and hymns were sung by the children's choir at the Easter morning service at 11 o'clock last Sunday in St. Matthew's Church. The service was sponsored by the Department of Agriculture for school children in the prescribed areas of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service to be run in conjunction with the school. Teachers are drawn up in competition from all schools in the district. A collection of school children for the largest collection of pressed, mounted and named weeds, including description.

2. Best essay as to reason for eradication of weeds. 3. A competition for school showing largest collection of weeds made by the children of the school. It is hoped to hold a field day celebration when prizes will be awarded.

Rev. C. J. Cherry of Atkins Road, and chaplain of Malvern House School, is spending the Easter vacation on the mainland, where he is assisting with the Easter services at St. John's Church, North Vancouver.

Miss Ellen Bruce of Victoria is spending the Easter holidays at Richard's farm, Atkins Road.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Boyes, with their two children, from Point Grey, Vancouver, are visiting Mrs. Boyes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Moir of Cherry Bank, Langford Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mathias, who have been spending the winter at Holly Bank, Langford Lake, are leaving to spend a month in Iceland before returning to their home in Regina.

Two baptisms were performed at St. Matthew's Church on Easter Sunday afternoon by the Rev. H. S. Payne. Betty Elizabeth was the name given to Mr. and Mrs. H. Bayne's little daughter. Her parents and Mrs. H. J. Bryce stood sponsors. Mr. and Mrs. David Wilken's baby was christened Violet Margaret. Mrs. Margaret Wilken, Miss O. Lovelidge and Lyle Lovelidge being the godparents.

Frank Bingham of Esquimalt visited his sister at her home in Langford over the week-end.

St. Matthew's Church was tastefully decorated for the Easter services, which were very well attended. Beautiful Arum lilies filled the altar vases, white ivy and daffodils decorated the pulpit. The windows were decorated with moss and bases of daffodils and the font with moss and violets. Pots of white begonias were on the organ.

Mrs. Horace Simpson presided at the organ. The singing was greatly enhanced by the presence of the children's choir under the leadership of Mrs. James L. Brown. They had been trained by Mrs. Simpson. The choir sang "Hail Festal Morn" and Mozart's "Gloria."

FATHER WILL NOW REMEMBER ALL FOOLS DAY

Sugared Eggs, Salted Coffee, Flat Tire and Soap Candy Start Day Right

Practical Jokers Make Many April Fools in Time-honored Fashion

Telephone messages that remained a mystery, salt in the breakfast coffee and a sugar for the eggs brought an early morning reminder to many people to-day that the month of March was due to be torn off the calendar and that April 1 had arrived.

Although April Fool's Day may have been in popularity for a time, it is one occasion which will never entirely be shed by jokers who delight in polishing their wits for some good natured fun, and this year it came back in full force in Victoria.

At breakfast this morning the B.C. Telephone Exchange had an unusually busy time with persons who rang up friends merely to inquire the date or to hang up after the telephone ring had disturbed the slumber of some person called. Quite a few people as usual found numbers left to telephone up to discover on completing the call they were talking to the police station or an undertaker.

ROUGH TIME FOR DAD
An example of what happened in one home is probably applicable to many. Dad rushed down stairs to answer the telephone at 6 o'clock, and received a message. "What day is it?" After which his half-awakened intellect rose to the occasion too late as the receiver at the other end had been hung up. At breakfast he found salt in the sugar bowl and sugar in the salt cellar, but not until his coffee and eggs had been served for the switch. When the paternal milder from mother that he was once a boy himself, the innocent dad came down to breakfast and proceeded to eat as well as he could. For vegetable half-pint dried beans, must be grown by exhibitor.

Offered an Easter candy, which the young innocent had saved for him, as he was leaving the house, he found it full of soap, flavored with cayenne pepper and arrived at the garage, discovered that the air had been let out of one of the tires of the car. With a sigh of relief he started for the office, when alone the Dallas Road he jammed on his brake to salvage a spare tire lying in front of him. He found he might as well have left it alone, and had another reminder of the day as a merry peal of laughter came from some kiddies gazing from a bedroom window.

In his mail he received a letter from his wife, who was evidently a conspirator in crime with his son and heir, "I hope you liked your candy, Guinevere." Other stunts marked the day. There were delapidated hats which tempted someone to kick them and stub their feet on the heels, and a pair of shoes disappeared through a string pulled a distance away, waltzes given to the sidewalk, exploding cigars and the usual smart remarks which make the day of April Fool's a day of the year.

POLICE NOT FOOLED
April Fool's Day passed by quietly, however, as far as the police and fire services in the city were concerned to-day. False calls over the telephone were the only things which gave the police any trouble. Sergeant Thomas Hall was on duty this morning, and his ready humor took care of all situations as people unsuspectingly called "I have a fire" or "I have a car accident" in response to directions of their joking friends.

NEW ATLANTIC CABLE PLANNED
Berlin, April 1.—A plan for the laying of a telephone cable between Germany and North and South America, said to have been impracticable hitherto, has been submitted to the Prussian Academy of Sciences by Professor K. W. Wagner, director of the Institute of Vibration Research. The new cable would permit television and telegraphic communication as well as telephoning. Its cost would be double that of an ordinary cable. Professor Wagner believes the best route for the cable to North America would be by way of Lisbon, the Azores, St. Johns, Nfld., and the Strait of Canso, Nova Scotia.

Chevrolet Output Jumps to New Record
Detroit, April 1.—Chevrolet Motor Company broke all monthly production records in March with an output of 147,274 cars and trucks. This compares with 121,249 cars and trucks in February of this year and 139,687 units in March last year. The best previous month in the company's history was May, 1928, when the output was 140,778 cars and trucks.

BIG BLIZZARD IN ONTARIO
North Bay, Ont., April 1.—A storm which broke with startling suddenness in the wake of exceptionally fine weather, has been raging since Saturday night in the northwestern part of the province, as far as Cochrane, west of Hearst, and south to Callander, was to-day in the grip of a raging blizzard with the mercury dropping close to zero. At Hearst it was eight degrees below zero. Telegraph and telephone lines and railway service have been seriously interrupted. A foot of snow is reported to have fallen in the Capreol district. North Bay streets, which were free of snow yesterday, were to-day covered with eighteen inches to two feet of snow. The storm shows no sign of abating.

By-laws to cover new INDEMNITIES

Aldermen to Get $600 a Year; Payment of $1,000 Allowed

By-laws to legalize the payment of new mayoral and aldermanic indemnities to members of the City Council will be introduced at the adjourned regular meeting of the council, set for 8 p.m. Tuesday. Two by-laws will be for the sum to be paid out to sitting members. It is now stated, to provide members of the council, and to repeal the existing by-laws of 1893 and 1895.

By the amending by-laws the council will restore the payment of indemnities to the former by-law method which was instituted in Mayor Grant's day, with the necessary alterations for the amount of the indemnities now decided upon.

Under the by-laws of 1893 a Mayor of Victoria was to receive not more than $2,000 a year, and aldermen not more than $200 a year. In 1893 the aldermanic remuneration was raised to some $300, and permissively to $400. The present council has fixed $4,000 and $600 as the respective sums to be set aside as mayoral and aldermanic remuneration.

A DIRECT LOSS
While the increase in the aldermanic indemnities was made the subject of a protest by some former incumbents of the office assert that aldermanic service in the City of Victoria was accepted only at a direct loss under former conditions.

In Vancouver, in the amalgamated area, aldermen receive $1,200 a year to cover out-of-pocket expenses, and are said to have mentioned $2,000 as a more appropriate sum to be voted in future years. Under existing legislation aldermen in Victoria may receive up to $1,000 a year, instead of the $600 voted this year.

The amending by-laws will be introduced on Tuesday night by Aldermen William Cullen and W. T. Smith, embodying the advice of the city's counsel as to legal redress for the present uncertain position of council indemnities.

HERRICK, U.S. AMBASSADOR, SUCCEDES

The Ambassador, who was seventy-four years old, had been complaining slightly for twenty-four hours, but none of his friends thought it serious, and his death came as a great shock. Mr. Herrick was extremely fatigued after walking two miles in the Foch funeral procession last Tuesday, but his death was not seemed to regain his old-time form and appeared thoroughly refreshed.

President Doumergue, immediately upon learning of the Ambassador's death, dispatched Admiral Videt with his personal condolence and that of the republic. Washington, April 1.—There had been no indication here that Myron T. Herrick, Ambassador to France, who died yesterday, would be recalled from his Paris post by the new administration, consequently speculation as to who will be named his successor is of little point.

William B. Castle Jr., Assistant Secretary of State, who had known Mr. Herrick for more than twenty years, said he was an "intimate friend" and for that reason his death "brings such personal sorrow that I cannot think of him only as a great Ambassador."

Mr. Herrick, diplomat, statesman, lawyer, banker and manufacturer, was career soldier, diplomat, financier, promoter of great railroad enterprises, Governor of Ohio and Ambassador.

A close personal friend of President McKinley, he was offered three Cabinet positions by Presidents of the United States and twice was appointed Ambassador to France—first by President Taft in 1912 and again by President Harding in 1921. The title of colonel was given him when he was appointed to the staff of the Governor of Ohio.

Mr. Herrick attracted world-wide attention as United States Ambassador to France during the World War by his refusal to leave Paris when the French Government and the diplomatic corps fled to Bordeaux to escape the threatened German invasion of 1918. In addition to the intricate diplomatic duties which he performed, he assumed charge of the British, Japanese and Turkish Embassies, and by his business and devotion to duty in Paris he won the respect and admiration of his colleagues.

Another notable achievement of Mr. Herrick while in France was the American Relief Clearing House, which he organized after the war. That organization took full charge of the transportation and distribution of supplies from America, which were arriving in great quantities. The committee continued throughout the war as one of the most important relief agencies in Europe.

BORN IN OHIO
Mr. Herrick was born in Ohio, October 9, 1854. He attended the common school and earned a living at the same time. He entered Oberlin College and Ohio Wesleyan University, but did not complete his education. That he had broad knowledge outside of college textbooks, however, is evidenced by the fact that among the honorary degrees conferred upon him was that of Doctor of Laws conferred by Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Princeton. Admitted to the bar in 1878, he had a successful law career. He began his financial career by organizing a national bank in Cleveland. Later he became President of the Society for Savings in Cleveland, the National Surety Company, the New York Life Insurance Company and numerous other financial institutions, as

BY-LAWS TO COVER NEW INDEMNITIES

Aldermen to Get $600 a Year; Payment of $1,000 Allowed

By-laws to legalize the payment of new mayoral and aldermanic indemnities to members of the City Council will be introduced at the adjourned regular meeting of the council, set for 8 p.m. Tuesday. Two by-laws will be for the sum to be paid out to sitting members. It is now stated, to provide members of the council, and to repeal the existing by-laws of 1893 and 1895.

By the amending by-laws the council will restore the payment of indemnities to the former by-law method which was instituted in Mayor Grant's day, with the necessary alterations for the amount of the indemnities now decided upon.

Under the by-laws of 1893 a Mayor of Victoria was to receive not more than $2,000 a year, and aldermen not more than $200 a year. In 1893 the aldermanic remuneration was raised to some $300, and permissively to $400. The present council has fixed $4,000 and $600 as the respective sums to be set aside as mayoral and aldermanic remuneration.

A DIRECT LOSS
While the increase in the aldermanic indemnities was made the subject of a protest by some former incumbents of the office assert that aldermanic service in the City of Victoria was accepted only at a direct loss under former conditions.

North Carolina Man Leads "Bunioners" on Second Lap of Foot Race

Trenton, N.J., April 1.—Paul Simpson of Burlington, N.C., led the field into Trenton to-day on the second lap of Charles C. Pyle's second cross-country foot race. Simpson covered the 46.4 miles from Elizabeth, N.J., in six hours, ten minutes and fifty seconds. Simpson, who finished Pyle's first race in thirty-sixth place, appeared fresh at the close of the lap: run in a cold drizzle. Juel Gools of Belgium, one of the leaders yesterday, was second in 6:24.00. Johnny Salo, Pasasie, N.J., policeman, who finished second last year, was third in 6:32.00. Winnipeg Electric Company, who led while yesterday's winner of the lap from New York to Elizabeth, Ed Gardner, Seattle, negro, was fourth in 7:37.39.

HERRICK FUNERAL
Paris, April 1.—France will render military honors to the late Myron T. Herrick, United States Ambassador, on Thursday and then will send the body back to his homeland aboard the newest and fastest French cruiser, the Tourville.

well as head of the American Bankers' Association. In his career as a railroad financier he was chairman of the board of directors of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad and a director of the Missouri Pacific, participated in the purchase of the Western Maryland Railroad and assisted the Gould railroads to enter Pittsburgh.

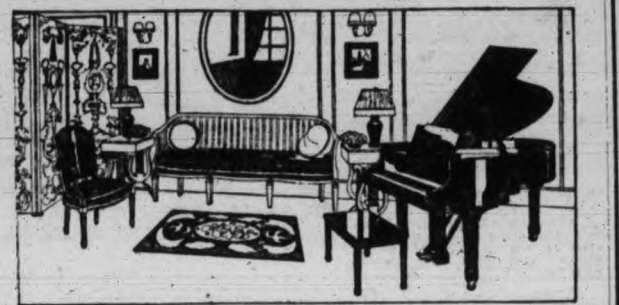

Mr. Herrick, a Republican, was Governor of Ohio from 1903 till 1905. DECLINED NOMINATION
On his return from Paris in 1914 an enthusiastic group of Republican friends in Cleveland attempted to secure his nomination to the Presidency, but Mr. Herrick declined the honor, declaring he would not capitalize his own credit as was due him by his European service.

Colonel Herrick married Carolyn M. Farnely, daughter of M. R. Farnely of Dayton, Ohio, June 30, 1880. Mrs. Herrick died in 1918. A son, Farnely Webb Herrick, resides in Cleveland. It was said of Ambassador Herrick that he looked the part. He had a tall figure, slightly stooped, a voice of fine timbre, combined with an attractive gentleness, increased the charm of his personality.

One of the most trying situations in his post-war diplomatic service was the difficult task of presenting the views of his Government in negotiations on the French-United States problem of war debts. Another trying situation followed when he became the Paris host of Charles A. Lindbergh, when the "Lone Eagle" flew from New York to Paris on the first non-stop air voyage between the two cities.

Herrick hailed Lindbergh as the "new ambassador of America." When one ambassador went, the other went too. During "Lindbergh week" in Paris the close co-operation of the pair of Americans did much to cement cordiality between the two countries. The visit of the aviator aroused the enthusiasm of the French people to a degree little short of hysteria. But through all the excitement it was said that Herrick always saw the right thing at the right time. Herrick was given credit for a part in Lindbergh's steadfast refusal to permit himself to be steamed.

WITNESS IS TOLD NOT TO ANSWER

Winnipeg, April 1.—Memoranda authorizing expenditures by A. W. McLimont, while he was president of the Winnipeg Electric Company, were now presumably in possession of the company, stated W. E. Blodgett, comptroller, in giving evidence before the Royal Commission investigating campaign fund charges against the Bracken Government here to-day.

The witness was asked by Hugh Phillips, counsel for Lieutenant Colonel F. O. Taylor, K.C., Conservative leader, who laid the charges, if the June, 1927 memoranda could be produced. "No," broke in A. J. Andrews, K.C., representing the company. He said the president and board of directors of the company would take responsibility for the witness' stand in refusing to answer.

On Commissioner A. K. Dyball's request Mr. Blodgett agreed to ascertain if such presidential notations would be available. He will make his decision known at the next session. After the short session to-day adjournment until to-morrow morning was made as in a tribute to the memory of Sir Hugh John Macdonald, the funeral being held this afternoon.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, April 1.—Wheat was decidedly weak to-day, breaking sharply under the close of Saturday, with a lack of any real demand and more favorable crop conditions both in the United States and Canada, due to receipt of rains or snows over the week end. There was plenty of wheat for sale during the first hour by the way of long liquidation, but offerings dried up later, our market simply moving in sympathy with Chicago.

The buying appeared to be all local and mostly coming through commission houses. With Liverpool closed to-day and a bank holiday in Canada the cash market was a very tame affair.

Exporters stated they had received no business over the week end, and only odd cars were trading locally at spreads unchanged from Saturday. There was very little outside news coming through, most stores between here and Chicago having caused considerable wire trouble.

Snowfalls were pretty general throughout Western Canada, and wheat put the soil in pretty fair shape for spring work, at least there is little to worry about at the present time. Near the finish shores again covered and the market closed firm.

Coarse grains: These markets were very dull to-day there being no feature to oats, barley or rye. There was some scattered liquidation during the first part of the day, which found a very poor demand. Oats firmed up a little in the late trade on speculative buying, but barley and rye closed near the bottom.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN PICTURES BY KINK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The poor old tub man was surprised. Of course he never realized that he was going to be upset by Old Bird Goofy. The bird had punched him in the nose, and it was one of those hard blows that knock a person to the ground, like only hard blows do.

The Goofy stood back, real mad, while Mister Tub Man looked quite sad. "That's what you get for robbing me," the long-necked bird cried out. "I don't mind teasing now and then, but don't do things like that again, 'cause, if you do I'll hand you another painful clout."

The Tinymites still hid from view. They didn't know just what to do. They liked the friendly tub man, but they feared the monstrous bird. "I wish," said Scouty, "we could aid the man, 'cause he seems quite afraid. The two are talking back and forth, but I can't hear a word."

Then Carpy said, "Let's run away. This is no place for us to play. We're bound to get in trouble if we stop and interfere. I'd like to help the old tub man, but I see no way that I can. The safest place for us is many, many miles from here."

And then the bunch heard Clowny roar, "Oh, look! He's hitting him once more. I simply cannot stand to see an old man knocked around. I may get hurt, but I don't care. At least I'll give that bird a scare." And not a moment passed ere little Clowny left the ground. He dove right down from off the hill, which gave all of the rest a thrill. It was a flying tackle. Clowny surely had the knack. The thought of it may seem absurd, but round the legs he caught the bird. Real quickly Mister Goofy was flat upon his back.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1929

Astrologers read this as rather an uncertain day in planetary direction. Midday is best for mercantile pursuits, they believe.

The early bird to-day may meet with trouble. If the stars are rightly read, jealousy and envy may be prevalent among workers who will resent too much efficiency. Under this rule of the stars there may be a sense of delay and unseen obstacles. Destructive rather than constructive efforts will succeed.

Quarrels should be avoided with special vigilance while this rule prevails. It is a threatening day for domestic affairs. Although it is the beginning of the week the quest for employment might well be delayed. The way is unlooky for those who seek work.

Death from heart disease and apoplexy will multiply greatly in number this year. Astrologers predict.

At this time many readjustments and reorganizations in different lines of business may be expected. Heads of great corporations will carry heavy responsibilities.

Warnings are given to American captains of commerce that they must be careful of the human machine, which will give way under severe strain at this time.

While the rule of the stars seems to encourage a tremendous speed in all things American the tempo must be reduced, the stars warn.

Rest and relaxation will be preached more and more as the Spring advances, for many men who head great corporations will pass out of life, it is forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid speculation and risks of every sort. The year will be prosperous, if prudence rules all action.

Children born on this day probably will be highstrung and quick tempered in all probability. These subjects of Aries like change and variety and yet may turn to military careers. They are liable to accidents of every sort and should be carefully safeguarded.

Uncle Wiggly's April Fool

By HOWARD E. GABES

"You may now have one minute to whisper to one another as much as you like," spoke the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School one day. "Ready!"

For a moment the animal boys and girls hardly knew whether or not their teacher was playing a joke. But Jackie Bow Wow was the first to guess that Miss Mouse might be in earnest so he leaned over and whispered to his brother Peetie.

"Maybe it's April Fool!"

Miss Mouse heard the little doggie boy. Then she laughed and said, "No, I am not playing a joke on you. It is true this is the first day of April. But you children may really have one minute, now, to whisper to one another and you will not be kept in for it. But only one minute, remember!"

Then such a buzz of whispering as there was! To some of the other teachers Miss Mouse said: "I think I might just as well let my pupils have one minute of whispering in the open as to have them whispering all day long behind the backs of their seat mates."

"I'll just give that a good kick for fun."

So that's the reason the pupils of Miss Mouse could whisper in school and not be punished for it. And, after a while, when the minute was nearly up, Jackie leaned over and whispered to Peetie.

"Wait for me after school."

"What for?" asked Peetie.

"April Fool!" whispered Jackie and for a moment the other little puppy dog wondered what sort of a joke his brother was playing. Then Peetie saw Jackie wink one eye.

"All right," whined Peetie. "I'll wait for you."

When the two little dogs met after school, Jackie softly barked: "Do you know this is April Fool day? Let's play a joke on Uncle Wiggly. Sure! All right!" agreed Peetie. "What'll we do?"

"Let's go down under an old tree and when Uncle Wiggly comes along he will want to kick the hat, and he won't know a brick is under it and he'll stub his paw!" chuckled Jackie. "Ha, ha!"

"Oh, that will be a fine April Fool!" laughed Peetie. "Ha, ha!"

It did not take them long to find an old hat and a brick, which they put on the sidewalk around a corner where they saw Uncle Wiggly hopping along toward them. The two puppies hid and pretty soon Mr. Longears saw the old hat.
